New U-Boat Drive Waited

Washington
Jan. 30 (AP)

U. S. OFFICIAL

A new wave of U-boat attacks on Atlantic coast shipping was considered likely today despite the increasing effectiveness of American counter measures which already have sunk or damaged at least 20 Axis submarines.

The Navy warned that "enemy submarines continue to operate off the east coast of the United States and are reported as far south as Florida," but no new coastal attacks have been announced since the sinking of the Francis E. Powell was disclosed on Wednesday.

The Navy added another submarine to the toll of those previously reported sunk by making public the report of a petty-officer plane pilot.

"Sighted sub, sank same," said the report.

Impressed by the pungency of the message, officials relaxed the rule of secrecy on anti-submarine successes and gave it to the country. They furnished no details.

The petty officer's report, whatever it lacked in literary qualities, was considered likely to go down in history with the utterances of other warriors sparing with words.

Julius Caesar, writing his famous "Veni, vidi, vici," got his message into one less word than the nameless petty officer, but the Roman runs two words over in the English translation, "I came, I saw, I conquered." Commodore Perry was verbose with his: "We have met the enemy and they are ours."

GERMAN TACTICS

German tactics in past submarine campaigns have been to maintain attacks in chosen areas by keeping up a constant flow of replacements. Following the same system in the present warfare, U-boats fresh from Germany would now be replacing those which made the first attacks on coastal shipping in the week of Jan. 12 and whose torpedoes or fuel would have been expended.

There was speculation that the Germans might try to keep more than a score of U-boats off the At-

OFFICIAL NEWS

The British admitted a Japanese penetration to within 18 miles of the Strait of Johore today in a communique announcing contact with the enemy about Kulai.

The companion Japanese drive down the west coast of the Malayan peninsula appeared to be keeping pace with British acknowledgment of fighting in the Pointian Besar area, roughly 20 miles from the one-mile strait separating Singapore and the mainland.

(A Domei report from Malaya, broadcast from Tokyo, also said Japanese troops had reached Kulai and were driving down a wide highway paralleling the railroad to Johore Bahru, across the Strait of Singapore from the Island of Singapore with its great British naval base.)

British headquarters said laconically in a communique:

"In the center there is contact with the enemy about Kulai and heavy fighting took place yesterday in the Sedenak area."

Sedenak is eight miles above Kulai.

(The Japanese claimed Sedenak fell last night and their troops immediately swept down on Kulai.)

SINGAPORE RAIDED

In the thundering drive down the Maylayan Peninsula, the Japanese air force became increasingly active both against British forward positions and communications and against Singapore.

During air raids on Singapore island this morning, headquarters said, defense fighters destroyed one enemy fighter and severely damaged several other aircraft while during raids yesterday and last night, in which it was acknowledged that "some damage has been caused," anti-aircraft guns shot shot down two invading planes.

While the Japanese land forces forged ahead in the central part of the Malayan peninsula, head-

Hard-fighting Netherlands Indies forces and guerrillas today put up strong resistance against Japanese sea and land invaders on four sectors of the N. E. I. battlefront.

An intense struggle was reported under way on the northern portion of Dutch West Borneo, where the Japs yesterday launched a seaborne and overland assault on Pontianak, chief port on the west coast of Borneo, with a normal population of 50,000.

Fighting also was believed continuing in the Kendari and Minahassa regions of northern Celebes island and in the Balik Papan area on Borneo's east coast.

ARMADA HARD PRESSED

Meanwhile, the great Japanese invasion fleet, which has been reduced by nearly one-half since it entered Macassar strait, apparently still was attempting to establish a landing force on Java despite the terrific losses it has suffered under American and Dutch naval attacks.

Informed sources said the convoy, which began as an armada of 100 Jap warships and transports, still was trying to push its way southward to the bottom of the strait.

Some quarters believed the convoy, said to have lost as many as 46 or more of its units, is heading

RUSSIAN ARMY RECAPTURES LOZOVAYA

Moscow
Jan. 30 (AP)

OFFICIAL NEWS

Cavalry-paced Soviet troops who struck lethally through fortified positions across the Donets Basin operated today only 70 miles from the big bend of the lower Dnieper river, menacing German winter lines clear to the Sea of Azov.

Nestled on the west bank of the river bend is Dnieperopetrovsk, Russia's eleventh city, which fell five months ago to the Axis armies of Field Marshal Ewald Von Kleist after the defenders had dynamited its $100,000,000 power dam.

The Soviet Information Bureau disclosed the strategic situation in announcing the recapture of Lozovaya, midway between the Donets and the Dnieper, through a 93-mile advance in which it said 25,000 Germans were killed in 10 days of fighting.

Three German divisions—the 257th, 68th and 298th—and three regiments—the 236th anti-tank, the 169th infantry and a Hungarian cavalry regiment—were officially declared to have been "utterly routed." (At full strength these would represent about 50,000 men.)

"Headquarters of the 257th Infantry division were smashed and its documents were captured," the information bureau said. "Standards of the 457th and 516th Infantry regiments were captured. A considerable defeat was inflicted upon the 44th and 295th Infantry divisions and units of the 62nd, 46th and 94th Infantry divisions."

Among battle trophies listed were 658 field guns, 40 tanks and armored cars, 843 machine-guns, 6013 automobiles, 438 supply trucks, 2400 carts and 2800 horses.

More than 200,000 Japanese troops, including an entire army, have now besieged Gen. MacArthur's little defense force on Batan for 28 days.

A War Department bulletin reported only light fighting on Batan in the past 24 hours, but added:

"The arrival of fresh Japanese troops at the front and movements behind the lines indicate preparations by the enemy for the resumption of a large-scale offensive."

A communique issued by the War Department late yesterday gave no new details of the fighting but contained a message from Philippine President Quezon pledging his people to "continue fighting side by side with the United States until victory is won."

HITLER SPEECH FLAYS F.D. AND CHURCHILL

Berlin (From German Broadcasts) Jan. 30 (AP)

Speaking for the first time since his declaration of war against the United States, Adolf Hitler today assailed President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill and declared that, excepting his Axis partners, Germany is fighting a new world war against her same old foes.

Most of the address was a reiteration of Hitler's long standing arguments that German was persecuted.

He said that even in the last war Prime Minister Churchill was among the English "warmongers" and that President Roosevelt was the right hand of Woodrow Wilson, whom he described as "the man who caused the greatest harm to the German people."

SAYS CHURCHILL'S MEAN

The speech celebrated the ninth anniversary of Hitler's elevation as reichschancellor. Addressing party members, soldiers and representatives of other Axis powers in Berlin, he declared:

"All of us who can remember the last war will still remember that Mr. Churchill was already then one of the meanest warmongers. It is the same powers we fought then which we are fighting today."

He was introduced by Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebels, who complimented him for looking "so fresh and healthy."

Hitler declared that "at the time of the last war Germany was a monarchy and war was forced upon her."

"Today," he said, "Germany is not monarchy but our same

President Signs Price Control Bill

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt signed the price control bill today and told reporters it was good in many respects but that provisions applying to farm prices offered a danger.

These provisions, he said, provide a real danger to the cost of living in that no farm price could be stabilized below 110 per cent of parity.

For eight years, he said, the Administration has sought to work toward parity prices for farmers and the bill, he added, represents a very definite violation of that objective.

He said he hoped that the administration of the bill would be vigorous and suggested that later on gaps in the legislation could be filled in and if necessary, amendments requested.

Leon Henderson, the price administrator, sat behind the rPesident, and when Mr. Roosevelt was asked who would be appointed administrator under the bill he tossed his head at Henderson and replied in Latin, ecce homo, or this is the man.

HITLER'S WAR ON RELIGION

YOUNG NAZIS TAUGHT CHRIST DIED COWARD, WHIMPERING ON CROSS

By FRAU ELISABETH MEYER

WHEN the children of Germany were first invited and later urged by compulsion into youth organizations, many of us German Catholics, and devout Protestants as well, believed that the purpose of these groups was to improve the health of young people and train them for citizenship.

We soon learned our mistake. We learned, to our sorrow, that the youth organizations were Adolf Hitler's "secret weapon" against religion in the Third Reich.

Christ had said: "Suffer the little children to come unto Me . . . for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven."

Hitler says: "I command that the little children come unto me, for of such is the Third Reich and the soldiers of my kingdom that is to rule the earth."

Children were taught to despise Christianity, the priests and ministers who taught it and the families and friends who professed it.

I speak of Christianity in connection with these youth movements. Jews were automatically barred from membership. The Jews suffered a separate vicious persecution of their race and their faith, and all public worship of any type was prohibited.

But to the children of Christians, both Nazi schools and Nazi youth movements combined in a campaign of corruption of faith and morals which has never been equalled in the history of civilization.

Children were taught that all religion, and particularly Christianity, is a "sentimental weakness" and a threat against the solidarity of the State.

They were taught that the Founder of Christianity was a coward—that he died "whimpering on the Cross." They were taught that the highest virtue is courage, and that Christians, a weak and despised people, have no knowledge of the meaning of valor.

Assailing not only their faith but the code of conduct taught in their homes, their Nazi instructors assured these impressionable young folk that only under Nazism could the "free life" be understood and enjoyed.

To these boys and girls the Nazis said:

"It is because of religion that your parents surround you with old-fashioned restrictions, forbidding you the natural pleasures and indulgences which are the right of youth.

"We, the Nazis, tell you that youth should do as it pleases; that we need soldiers for the Fuehrer; that prayer, except to him, is in vain; that religious observances are outworn superstitions which have no place in our glorious New Order."

Children were encouraged to pilfer from their homes all religious literature, including catechisms and Bibles. At outdoor camps, huge bonfires were made of this literature, and around the fires the children danced, chanting incantations to Hitler.

There came a time when the mere possession of Catholic literature meant confiscation of the book, imposition of a heavy fine, or worse. Let me tell you of the experience of a dear friend.

Her daughter was only 10 years old when she found in their home an old and valuable book, a collection of world-famous

Kimmel, Short Urged To Ask Trial, Tell All

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN
Special to Boston Evening American

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30—Pending disclosure of what further steps the Roosevelt Administration will take on the Roberts report on the Pearl Harbor disaster, the burning question in Washington today is whether Admiral Kimmel and Lieut.-Gen. Short will take their licking lying down.

It is a mistake to assume that everybody in Washington is willing that these two officers should be made scapegoats.

There is a very strong sentiment, on the contrary, that both officers should demand to appear before a court of inquiry and a court-martial.

NOTHING IN THEIR DEFENSE

Many of the best informed here believe that if the full story could be brought out before an impartial tribunal, it would be presented in a different light.

The report contains no word of defense for the two officers accused of dereliction of duty.

Administration spokesmen appear anxious to have the country accept the Roberts report findings as final. They propagate the theory that the whole responsibility for the debacle rests upon Admiral Kimmel and General Short.

FOR GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP

From the point of view of the practical Democratic politician, that would be the best possible "out" for the Roosevelt Administration.

But this is not the unanimous opinion even among Democratic politicians. The more fair-minded do not think it good sportsmanship to crucify Kimmel and Short until there has been a more complete investigation.

There is a good deal of suspicion in Congress of negligence in Washington.

In several places in the Roberts report there are strong intimations that the Roosevelt Administration was handling the Japanese in the Pacific with kid gloves and that the Army and Navy had been admonished to take no provocative steps. They were virtually under orders to do nothing that looked like the taking of an American initiative.

Army, Navy Confident Hawaii Can Hold Japs

HONOLULU, Jan. 30 (INS)—Close relationship between the Army and Navy forces defending Hawaii and confidence in their ability to hold the islands against any attack were stressed today by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander of the Pacific fleet, and Maj. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, commander of the Army garrison.

Admiral Nimitz and Gen. Emmons met for a discussion of the new arrangement which places the admiral in supreme command of all military forces in the Hawaiian area.

Politicians Told to Walk As Tires Fail

Political pull does not impress members of the State Rationing Board, it was made clear today after two heads of state departments who sought new tires were turned down and told to buy retreads if they can, otherwise use street cars or walk.

Former Gov. Joseph B. Ely, chairman of the rationing board, disclosed that the two department heads had important administrative duties, but were ineligible to obtain tires since their jobs were not specifically protective.

Federal regulations emphasize that new tires and cars may be bought only by persons engaged in protecting the public or transporting vital goods.

Eleven appeals, altogether, from rulings of local rationing boards were turned down by the state board. Rationing Administrator Thomas M. Joyce said this was a 100 per cent backing of the local boards' decisions.

Joyce also disclosed that reports of motorists buying tires by mail order from Canada and Argentina are being investigated. He sought a ruling from Washington on the matter.

Former Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield, head of the Boston rationing board, announced that a quantity of tires and tubes of obsolete sizes are available to buyers who can make use of them.

FLAMES KILL 2 MEN IN NEW BEDFORD

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 30—Two men perished today in a fire that swept the old Biltmore Chambers rooming house in Middle st., driving 18 others to the street.

Found unconscious in his blazing room, Frank Souza, 50, a Gloucester fisherman, was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Luke's Hospital. He had third-degree burns.

After the flames had been extinguished, firemen going through the ruins under direction of Fire Chief Edward F. Dahill came upon the body of Hans Hansen, 41, also a fisherman.

The old three-story wooden structure, once famous as a stopping place of theatrical stars, was destroyed by the flames.

Flames broke out on the first floor from an undetermined origin and quickly swept up through the structure. Among the first occupants awakened were Richard Knund, 53, a cripple, and his wife, proprietress of the lodging house. She shouted warnings as she helped her husband to safety.

Sergt. Albion C. Davis and Patrolman Edward Burgess carried out Manuel Simmons, 47, who was overcome by smoke.

Two alarms were sounded for the blaze. Damage was estimated unofficially in excess of $10,000.

Pay Increase Battle Rages at State House

The Republican-controlled House and Senate hastened today to put finishing touches of approval on Gov. Saltonstall's 15-point legislative program and bring to an end their emergency wartime session which opened only last Monday.

Biggest question remaining is pay raises to state and county employes, with two legislative committees reporting different bills and each in turn differing from the Governor's proposal.

COMMITTEE BILLS DIFFER

The chief executive's bill called for a 10 per cent pay increase for all state employes earning less than $2500 and the same scale was expected to be applied to county employes.

However, the committee on public service regulating pay for the commonwealth's 22,500 employes, recommended a flat increase of $150 for those earning less than $1500 and a $100 raise for those in the bracket above extending to $2500 a year.

The committee on counties came up with a proposal for a sliding scale of 20 per cent for those earning less than $1000, and ranging up to a 5 per cent boost for those paid from $2500 to $3000 yearly.

The rest of the 15-point program appeared riding through to enactment at a steamroller pace that brought protests from Democratic leaders.

FAVOR CONTROL OVER FOOD

Two surprises marked the bill's passage. A Republican, Rep. Benjamin B. Priest of Haverhill, moved that the powers be checked by stipulating that they become inoperative on a joint resolution passed by House and Senate majorities rather than awaiting a congressional declaration of peace to terminate them. His motion was adopted unanimously.

Rep. John H. Carroll, Boston Democrat, moved to cloak the Governor with complete control over food commodities and other necessariesof life, as a precaution against price increases. This was passed by a roll call vote of 120 to 87.

Defense Rests In Lynn Girl Surgery Case

SALEM, Jan. 30—The defense rested today in the trial of Hans Rossman, 39-year-old German-born machinist, charged with illegal surgery on Mrs. Pearl Howard, 19, of Lynn.

Rossman admitted under cross-examination by Asst. Dist. Atty. James Ray that he had a bag containing medical instruments, but denied using them for illegal purposes.

F. D. Fit at 60, Does Hardest Work in Life

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—President Roosevelt is 60 years old today, and in some respects he doesn't act it.

At a time of life when many men of his means would have turned to a comfortable retirement he is working harder than ever. Since war broke out Dec. 7 he has scarcely been out of the White House—and he relishes travel.

His personal physician, Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, says the Chief Executive is in fine physical and mental fettle for a man of 60. Aside from the deepening of the lines in his face and the graying and thinning of his hair, almost nine years in the White House have touched him relatively lightly.

SPEAKS TONIGHT

In more than 12,000 parties and dances tonight all over the nation America will celebrate the birthday of the most famous person to overcome the handicap of infantile paralysis. Proceeds of the balls will be spent to help other victims of the dread disease.

In the national capital a galaxy of Hollywood stars helped celebrate Mr. Roosevelt's anniversary. They were invited to a White House luncheon at noon, a dinner and reception tonight and then to make the round of parties and dances tonight with Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The President will speak during an hour-long radio program, to be carried by all four major networks beginning at 11:15 p. m.

WEEK-ENDS RESTRICTED

Otherwise, it was work as usual for the President on his birthday, just as it has been every day since the attack on Pearl Harbor.

War has altered the presidential routine to a marked extent. He makes fewer appointments with persons who merely want to come in and "pay their respects."

Mr. Roosevelt is not able to make so many week-end trips and his children can't pop in and out of the White House as they used to. Two of the four sons are naval ensigns, one is a captain in the Army Air Forces and another is a captain in the Marines.

All formal receptions and social events have been cancelled at the White House. People are invited in for a meal or a movie now and then but the President has found less time than in the past for even these informal social events.

Churchill Sends F. D. Birthday Message

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill sent President Roosevelt a birthday message and the United States executive's 60th anniversary was widely observed in Great Britain today.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express said the birthday "concerns the whole of the free world and conquered millions," explaining:

"Their fortune in President Roosevelt's 61st year and for many years to come will be molded by this man's character, the work he has done and the forces he sways."

The Times said the President had given to the masses in all countries "a clear idea not only of what they are fighting but also of what they are fighting for and today their wishes go out to him in gratitude and hope."

Spies Hunted In Eire Army

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Jan. 30 (INS)—Military authorities and police in Eire and Northern Ireland today started a hunt for Irish Republican army members suspected of acting as Nazi spies.

Apart from reported parachute landings in Eire, it was sta'ed, a large number of Nazi agents are known to have entered Northern Ireland in recent months.

Special orders were issued to American Expeditionary Force camp guards not to allow unauthorized persons near military zones.

It was understood all employes engaged in military and naval construction work in Northern Ireland are undergoing close examination.

Iran Signs Peace With British, Russia

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP)—A British-Russian-Iranian pact of alliance, based on the principles of the Atlantic charter, was signed at Teheran yesterday, five months after cessation of hostilities there.

Simultaneous announcements here and in Moscow said the agreement provided that Iran's army would not be required to fight against any foreign power and gave Britain and Russia the right to maintain armed forces in Iranian territory.

HUB BIRTHDAY BALL FOR F. D. TO SET RECORD

With officials predicting the largest attendance ever, all was in readiness today for the ninth annual President's Birthday Ball to be held this evening at Boston Garden.

Edmund J. Brandon, U. S. attorney and chairman of the Birthday Ball committee, expects 20,000 persons here to honor President Roosevelt on his 60th birthday, the largest gathering locally since the parties began in 1934 to gather funds for the battle against infantile paralysis.

A brilliant entertainment program will be presented, including an old-fashioned variety show featuring song hits of a generation ago; a thrilling military pageant and a Great Waltz in which 50 couples wearing costumes of the "Gay 90's" will participate.

The program will get under way at 7:15 with a concert by the William L. Harris Legion Post band, made up of postoffice employes. The drum and bugle corps of the Sacred Heart Church Crusaders of Malden and the Old Dorchester Legion Post band also will be heard and there will be an exhibition of precision marching maneuvers by the national champion Newton Post American Legion drill team.

Dancing to the music of two crack dance bands will round out the evening's entertainment.

CAR PLANTS IN ALL-OUT WAR DRIVE TOMORROW

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT, Jan. 30 (AP)—The automotive industry, giant segment of America's industrial might, neared the end today of most of its normal activities preparatory to adapting its entire productive capacity to the manufacture of war implements.

Officially, passenger car production ceases tomorrow. A few companies, however, have been given special authorization to continue for not more than 10 days to complete January quotas.

Out of the job ahead, according to the car builders turned armorers, will come a new concept of the term "F. O. B. Detroit," with "Detroit," industrial symbol of mass production, embracing in this sense all 190 plants of the motor industry throughout the nation.

SURPRISING RESULTS SEEN

The 100 per cent conversion to war supplies production, industry heads have warned, is not just an overnight task, and tanks and airplanes won't come off assembly lines at the same rate automobiles have been poured out in the past. At the same time, experts assert, results expectable by early summer will be "surprising" to most persons.

In four decades the nation's automobile factories have turned out more than 85,000,000 motor vehicles; what they can do in military implement manufacture in the year ahead rests in the co-ordination now under way of their men, machines and materials.

The nearest the industry has to a war production schedule at the moment is upwards of $8,000,000,000 in orders, more than twice the total of last year's automobile and armament output value.

"We're going to stop all peacetime activity, shortly and get into a full 100 per cent arms production as quickly as possible," said one leading industry figure. "This means stop the assembly lines that were engaged in car output, clear them out of plants and install in their place our arms-making tools."

To the suggestion criticism had been made that the industry was slow getting under way, the same authority said:

HAVE PLANT FACILITIES

"It has been said we insisted upon building new factories instead of using existing facilities. We have done both, and moreover, nobody foresaw Pearl Harbor a year ago.

"One major fact overlooked in many quarters is that in addition to avoiding the loss of many thousands of man hours of employment, we now have the new plant facilities—tank plants turning out twice as many mobile fortresses as were expected, aviation engine facilities far ahead of output schedules, aircraft subassembly plants also in delivery and one of the largest bomber plane factories in the world that soon will be producing on a schedule much greater than any one ever dreamed of."

HOW CANADA RATIONS SUGAR, TIRES AND GAS

(There have been rumors in some sections of the United States that rationing restrictions in this country do not prevail in Canada. The following is a report on the situation north of the border.)

OTTAWA, Jan. 30 (AP)—Rationing came to Canada officially this week after 28 months of war but to the average consumer it was not a knockout blow.

Canadians since the war began have felt increasingly the pinch of restricted supply in many lines besides sugar which now, by law must not be used at a rate exceeding three-quarters of a pound a person each week.

Canada has established price controls, forbidden the general sale of automobile tires and arranged to ration gasoline.

Dominion officials said the government is prepared to go further as the need arises.

Authority for price control and rationing is combined in two government boards—the wartime prices and trade board under Donald Gordon, deputy governor of the Bank of Canada, and the wartime industry control board under R. C. Berkinshaw, who came to the government service from the automotive industry.

POWERS LIKE HENDERSON'S

Together these men and their associates wield powers almost identical with those of Leon Henderson, acting price administrator in the United States.

They can ration commodities, whether in the raw or finished state, set prices from the primary producer to the retailer, license all businessmen and regulate production. All these things are being done.

Price controls were imposed by the prices board Dec. 1, the maximum permissible retail charge being based on rates between Sept. 15 and Oct 11, 1941.

The sugar rationing scheme is informal. No coupon books, no permits are required. As Gordon put it: "There will be nobody to say to the Canadian consumer, 'you can't.' The onus is entirely on the purchaser. People want to be told what to do in this war. We are telling them."

There is nothing to stop the consumer from buying more than his quota of sugar except his conscience—and the ever-present threat of a maximum penalty of $5000 and 2 years imprisonment for infraction of any order of the prices board.

TO GIVE PLAN A TRYOUT

If the voluntary system doesn't work, Canadians will have to use sugar ration.

In announcng the sugar rationing, government spokesmen said similar treatment for other products was not immediately in sight, but that further control might become necessary.

The sale of tires generally is banned except for five off-sizes which are comparatively rare and will fit only cars of models prior to 1936, and bicycle tires.

Persons and organizations exempt from the order—such as doctors, visiting nurses, police and fire departments and other essential businesses and public services—"must prove their need" by filling out a form and turn in a used tire or tube before getting a new one.

Pleasure drivers, taxicab owners, department stores, milk, bread and coal companies and others delivering direct to the home must have tires retreaded when they wear out, buy used tires, or do without.

Gasoline sales have been restricted to some extent by reducing the hours in which purchases may be made.

GASOLINE TO BE RATIONED

April 1 regular rationing of gasoline is planned, with each motorist required to buy a license and coupon book for $1.

The average annual ration is to vary from 300 to 380 gallons for non-essential cars, with unlimited amounts for all types of commercial vehicles, it was announced by oil controller G. R. Cottrelle.

Commercial users must prove their need, however, and the amounts used will be watched.

Tourists from the United States will be allowed gasoline on the same basis as pleasure-driving Canadians.

Two types of coupon books will be issued to tourists, one good for 48 hours, the other for 90 days. Anyone staying more than 90 days must apply for a regular Canadian rationing license.

Work of the prices board and the industries control board has been interlocked by providing for joint membership in numerous cases.

Dorchester Has Raid Alarm Test

Sergt. Joseph Dawson of the Fields Corner police, director of air raid wardens in the area, today praised the 520 Dorchester wardens and assistants for their quick response to a surprise test alarm during the night.

Two girls were on duty at the Dorchester report center in the Grover Cleveland school when Sergt. Dawson telephoned them that a yellow air raid signal was showing. Within a few minutes, all wardens, junior police, Boy Scouts, 80 high school cadets and scores of deputies and emergency workers were at their posts.

Many men and women in charge of precincts and larger sectors had to take stations in the cold outdoors. Others were at telephone and observation points during the simulated raid. District Warden Philip W. Silva termed the test a "complete success."

RITES SUNDAY FOR JOE TOYE, NOTED HUB NEWSPAPERMAN

Funeral services for Joe Toye, 51, editorial writer of the Boston Traveler and former reporter for the Boston American, will be held Sunday at 1 p. m. at St. Andrew the Apostle Church in Forest Hills.

Widely known as a reporter and writer with interests ranging from sports broadcasting to aviation, he died at his home in Walk Hill rd., Forest Hills, after a lengthy illness.

Toye was born in Cambridge. He was graduated from Boston Latin School at 16 and soon was publishing his own newspaper in Dorchester, where his family had moved. He was a reporter successively with the Boston Journal, the Boston American, Post and Record before joining the Herald in 1921 and moving over to the Traveler a year later.

As a reporter and writer he covered stories on four continents, and in 1924 accompanied Cardinal O'Connell on the pilgrimage to the Holy Land. A year earlier he went to Ireland to report on life under the Free State government.

Surviving are his widow, the former Bertha Shepline, two daughters, Mrs. Doris Broderick of Jamaica Plain and Mrs. Jeanne Gormley of Hingham; a sister, Miss Mary A. Toye of New York, and a granddaughter, Julie Broderick.

Grateful Refugees Help Fund

As the Greater Boston United War Fund campaign reached the $3,750,000 mark in contributions today it was announced one of the latest gifts came from a group of near-penniless refugees anxious to express their appreciation of America's freedom.

The Mutual Aid Society, a group of immigrants mostly from Austria and other conquered European countries, sent in $30.16 collected from its members.

Last week the group, which gathers regularly at the International Institute, a Community Fund agency, to learn American customs and help each other find a place in this country, were told of the work of the Community Fund.

After seeing the War Fund movie and hearing an address on the Fund's activities, a member of the group made a speech on the privileges of living in this country and pointed to the responsibilities accompanying this privilege. The collection followed.

News of the latest contributions came shortly before a crowd of volunteer workers gathered at the Boston City Club for the third annual "Dutch Treat" report luncheon to discuss progress toward reaching the quota of $7,600,000.

Somerville Store Fined For Short-Weight Sugar

For the sale of a "pound" of sugar that weighed only 14½ ounces—the Commonwealth Grocery Co. of Concord ave., Somerville, was fined $50 in Somerville court today.

On complaints of Inspector James J. Dawson, of the State Division of Standards, and John F. Casey, Somerville sealer of weights and measures, the company was fined $25 each on charges of attempting to sell, and actual sale of short weights in sugar.

Dawson told Judge Charles Gadsby an examination of 19 one-pound packages of sugar in the company's concession in the Food Mart, Bow st., Somerville, disclosed short weight in each package.

COMPANY DENIES GUILT

Casey testified Miss Catherine T. Sullivan of Union sq., Somerville, was sold a pound of sugar at the concession that contained only 14½ ounces, and that even this was denied her until she made a purchase totaling $1.

Miss Sullivan was in court, but did not testify.

Casey testified Miss Sullivan had bought 94 cents' worth of other groceries when she asked for the sugar and was refused because she hadn't run the purchase up to $1. She then bought a seven-cent bag of salt, he said, and was sold the short-weight sugar.

Through its counsel, Christopher Muldoon of Somerville, the company pleaded not guilty.

EMPLOYE BLAMED

Muldoon said:

"It was an inexperienced employe working in a dark place with a scale that was not proper to use."

The lawyer said it was not the intent of the company to sell short weights and that the employe had since been discharged.

"The intent is implied from the act," Judge Gadby declared in finding the company guilty and imposing the fines.

"It's a peculiar thing," the judge said, "that these mistakes are always in favor of the seller."

New Fish Strike Parley Today

While 50 vessels of the Boston fishing fleet and their crews of more than 1000 remained idle, a committee representing the owners gathered at the Fish Pier today in a fresh attempt to end the four-week dispute.

Principal difficulty is war risk insurance, but the owners' committee has informed federal authorities that other matters must also be considered before they can submit the controversy to the War Labor Board for Arbitration. The board has asked both sides to a conference in Washington Feb. 4.

Meanwhile, the owners' group was accused of turning the dispute into a "lockout" by Capt. Patrick J. McHugh, secretary of the Atlantic Fishermen's Union, AFL.

One Estimate Of Jap Forces

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP)—A British military commentator today estimated the total Japanese strength in Malaya, the Philippines, Borneo and New Guinea at about 250,000 men.

He divided these forces as follows:

Malaya—Six divisions totaling about 100,000 men.

Philippines—Four divisions. (American officials put the Japanese Philippine force at 200,000.)

Borneo and adjacent islands—Two divisions.

New Guinea—One division.

Keep Mum, Chum, Don't Spread 5th Column Tales

"KEEP MUM—CHUM."

This is the new slogan coined by the Army high command and made known today by the Public Relations Office of the First Corps Area as the military's newest weapon to counter the spread of "vicious and unfounded rumors."

The announcement was made shortly after Capt. Clifton I. Munroe, public relations officer at Fort Devens, denounced rumors which he said he believed were being circulated by fifth columnists.

"Rumors of soldiers' conduct, severe epidemics at the fort, mass desertions and unexplainable deaths," he said, "have poured through this office in a steady stream since the United States entered the war.

"In my opinion, these rumors are being circulated by fifth columnists of Nazi and Fascist allegiance. They are utterly false and without foundation. They are spread by these sneaking members of our society to alarm families and friends of Army personnel, particularly of the new selectees."

"The only way to be sure of the truth of a story," he added, "is to see it in the newspapers. Any important news regarding accidents, deaths or injuries to Army personnel has been and will be given to the press freely and without qualification by this office."

NANTUCKET MAROONED AS CAPE DIGS WAY OUT

Although still cut off from the rest of the world, residents of Nantucket were reported winning their battle today with the storm which buried Cape Cod and islands area in deep snow and claimed the life of 8-year-old Robert King of Forestdale.

Only invisible links—two-way police radio and an undersea telephone cable—remained between the island communities and the mainland, as raging seas prevented supply boats from assisting battered Nantucket.

Coast Guard officials notified Gov. Saltonstall of the island's plight, reporting hundreds of telephone and power lines were wrecked, poles down and roads barricaded by 10-foot drifts.

Robert King

Adjt.-Gen. Edgar C. Erickson, chairman of the State disaster committee, offered the assistance of the Commonwealth, but said the hardy islanders apparently had control of the situation. Relief boats and vessels carrying telephone repair crews were scheduled to make another attempt to reach the island this morning.

On Martha's Vineyard and the Cape residents were busy digging out today. Scores of stranded automobiles were liberated as plows opened the highways. Hundreds of Camp Edwards soldiers, including 50 prisoners from the guardhouse, were set to work shoveling.

It was in the base hospital at the camp where little Bobby King died, 20 minutes after a rescue party found him face down in the snow about a mile and a half from his home on Route 130, the Sandwich-Mashpee highway.

He had been lost 22 hours in the storm, after wandering into the dense woods. The boy's hands and feet were frozen and would have had to be amputated if he had lived, doctors said. Adrenalin injections and other emergency measures failed to save his life.

Head of Argentine Air Force Killed

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 30 (AP)—Col. Pedro L. Zanni, 50, commander of the Argentine army air force and a pioneer of South American aviation, is dead from injuries suffered in an automobile accident in which his car collided with a truck near the Campo De Mayo military garrison.

Military air attache in Washington from 1938 to last June, Col. Zanni had held similar posts in Tokyo, Paris, London and Brussels. He gained fame in 1915 when he broke the American altitude record, reaching a height of some 21,000 feet.

$500,000 COAST FIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30 (AP)—A four-alarm fire, damaging more than 300 new and used automobiles, raged through the James W. McAlister, Inc., motor car warehouses and showrooms on Van Ness ave. early today causing damage estimated at approximately $500,000.

Navy to Speed Coal Ships

Announcement by Secretary Harold L. Ickes in Washington that the Navy will aid in speeding up coal deliveries to New England, which have fallen 25 per cent below normal, was met today with the assurance of Greater Boston dealers that there is no cause for alarm here.

Ickes, solid fuels co-ordinator, blamed "arbitrary and unnecessary" restrictions imposed on New England harbors by Navy patrols for slowing up deliveries by collier of the coal from Hampton Roads, Va., which arrives at the rate of 20,000,000 tons annually.

Ickes referred to clearance procedure which individual Navy patrols imposed on New England harbors and indicated this delayed the docking and unloading of the big colliers. He told of complaints reaching him from Hampton Roads that coal deliveries were below normal and from the Providence, R. I., Gas Co. that at the present rate their supply might be exhausted in four weeks.

HITLER SAYS AXIS FIGHTS SAME FOES AS KAISER DID

enemies say that it is the system that they are fighting.

"We have not wished to force our system upon others, and therefore we must ask what is the actual reason why our system is being fought.

BLASTS BRITISH AIMS

"England, which claims to be a democracy, has forced her rule upon 380,000,000 Indians. England has throughout the centuries subjected one people after another.

"Even since it has been England's principal aim to maintain her rule by preventing any other nation in Europe from rising."

Hitler declared England's aim had been to maintain the balance of power in Europe and declared.

"They wanted a Europe divided against itself."

Saying that the British had "conducted what they said was a war against war" because they wanted to "liberate Germany from militarism," the Fuehrer asserted:

"If they had really meant it they should have given up the fruits of their own wars.

"They did not want any change in society. They said that those who were born poor should remain poor and those born rich should remain rich. We National Socialists, however, say that life cannot be sterilized . . . It is the essence of life that again and again the fittest will survive, and what is ripe for death should not be preserved."

STILL KEPT ARMS

Hitler said: "When the last war was over the conditions for war were not removed, nor were the instruments of war abolished."

The speech was relayed by all German radio stations as well as those throughout Italy, Finland, Rumania, Crotia and Manchukuo.

Also relayed was the introduction of Hitler in which Dr. Goebbels said "victory was once for us a matter of faith—that is, of faith in your person. What at one time was a matter of faith is today for us a certainty."

Hitler said the present conflict was properly called a second world war.

"That means," he said, "that this war is identified with the other war in which I, myself, took part as a private. This is true not only because the war engulfs the whole globe, but also because it is being fought for the same purposes.

"The forces which caused the first world war are responsible for the present war also. Those forces are trying to attain the same goals which they sought to achieve in the last war . . . I am proud to say that the only countries which are an exception to this rule are today our allies—Italy, Japan, and the others."

HITS GERMAN "TRAITORS"

In the first World War, Hitler said, the Germans fought "gloriously" and the British "were almost on the point of breaking down when in the eleventh hour traitors in Germany broke the German might."

"This," he declared, "was exclusively our own fault.

"At that time a man faced up who caused the greatest harm to the German people—Woodrow Wilson . . . the right hand of this man was the present President Roosevelt.

"The German people did not know that this American President (Wilson) in no way felt himself bound to keep to the truth . . ."

Hitler told his audience in the Berlin Sportspalast that after the armistice Germany was stripped of her defenses and the German people lost all hope.

"It was a time when pacifism was preached; when it was a shame to be a German—and at that time I stepped on the political platform."

The audience cheered as he continued:

"Many thought it was the decision of a madman. But I came to this decision because I knew my people. If I had not had this faith I would not stand before you today."

DEVENS MEN 'GUINEA PIGS' AT HARVARD

Fort Devens soldiers, volunteering to serve as human "guinea pigs" in experiments at Harvard University, are providing the Army with valuable knowledge concerning the health of soldiers under desert fighting conditions.

The unique studies were disclosed by Dean Wallace B. Donham of the Harvard Business School in his annual report, mentioning experiments now being carried on for the National Research Council in the school's fatigue laboratory.

Harvard scientists have been conducting the tests in strict secrecy. Already, Dean Donham said, they have recommended to the National Research Council measures to improve the fitness of soldiers and to counteract the bad effects of a desert environment.

CLOTHING STUDIED

Additional infantrymen from Ft. Devens will submit to experiments in which the effects of nutrition on soldiers will be observed, Dean Donham revealed. Different types of soldiers' clothing will be studied for possible physical effects.

Likewise, a room containing a low-pressure chamber and treadmill will be built soon so that experts may study the effect of normal and low barometric pressures on high-altitude flyers. Sub-zero temperatures can be created in the special laboratory room, the dean said.

In the near future, also, many more problems of a "confidential nature" concerning the fighting ability of soldiers under various conditions will be analyzed, he said. Exact details of the experiments are not being revealed for military reasons.

ARTILLERY PRACTICES

At Camp Edwards, the snow storm failed to interrupt drill schedules as score of plows cleared roads and grounds even before the flakes stopped falling.

Artillery units worked out on the Cape range under typical winter conditions. Many rounds were fired while drifting snow clouded the vision of gun crews.

Col. William A. Smith, post commander at Fort Devens, announced that applications from enlisted men who wish to become officers are being received at the post headquarters. Candidates will be examined next Tuesday. Those chosen will be sent to the officers' training school.

lantic coast in an attempt to force the Navy to divert warships from the North Atlantic convoy routes to meet the new menace.

5 JAP SUBS SUNK

Five Japanese submarines have been reported sunk in the Pacific and Secretary Knox disclosed on Dec. 21 that at least 14 Axis submarines had been sunk or damaged in the Atlantic. The only official statement on counter-action against the current Atlantic raids, which have cost the Allies 14 merchant ships, was that some of the Axis submarines would not return home.

A Navy announcement at Los Angeles said an enemy submarine was sighted off the harbor there yesterday and was attacked by depth bombs without apparent result.

43 Ships Sunk Off U. S., Say Nazis

Enemy Report

BERLIN (from German broadcasts), Jan. 30 (AP)—A special communique preceded on the German radio by a fanfare of trumpets today reported that U-boats operating off the United States and Canada had sunk 43 ships totaling 302,00 tons since the beginning of the war with the United States.

The special announcement added 13 ships totaling 74,000 tons to the previous total claimed by the Germans.

The communique, introduced by the announcer as coming straight from the Fuehrer's headquarters, said:

"German submarines in continuing attacks on enemy supply shipping in American and Canadian territorial waters have sunk a further 13 ships with a tonnage of 74,000 registered tons.

"In these operations the submarine commanded by Lieut. Kalk particularly distinguished itself.

"Since their first appearance off the American coast our U-boats have sunk 43 enemy merchant ships with a total tonnage of 302,000."

quarters said there was no change in the eastern sector of the front, where the invaders last had been reported 40 miles from the strait of Johore.

On the western flank it was reported that 1000 British troops who had been cut off in the Batu Pahat area, 60 miles above Singapore, now had rejoined the main defense fighting had taken place in the Pontian Besar area.

CURFEW ORDERED

With the Japanese driving steadily closer, the British clamped a stringent curfew on Singapore island.

Lieut.-Gen. A. E. Percival, general officer commanding in Malaya, imposed the curfew, effective at 9 p. m. tonight, as the latest precautionary step by the island.

Meanwhile, British reports last night indicated imperial troops were offering fierce opposition to picked Japanese columns along a line extending across Johore state, roughly 30 to 40 miles north of Johore strait.

British, Australians and Indians were fighting in the hills and humid lowlands of Johore state. The Imperials were said to be taking a heavy toll of the Japs with their fierce delaying actions.

U. S. to Need 16 Million Women

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30 (AP)—Brig.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey believes between 16,000,000 and 17,000,000 women will have to be employed in the nation's industries before the war effort becomes fully effective.

Here for the annual meeting of the Philadelphia Sports Writers' Ass'n. the head of the selective service system asserted it now is impossible to estimate the ultimate number of men who may be needed in the armed forces.

"All we know is we have to have enough to win the war," he added. "That will also depend on the speed and extent of our production of war materials.

"We know we will have to triple the number of people we have in our so-called defense plants. There is no other possible way that we can obtain them except by hiring a far greater number of women."

15 P.C. WAGE TAX PROPOSED BY TREASURY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—A 15 per cent payroll tax on all salaries above $1000 a year was reported under discussion in Administration circles today as evidence developed that Congressional and Treasury officials thus far have failed to agree on fundamental principles of the new revenue bill.

Treasury experts were understood to have won some influential converts to this proposal, despite what other legislators described as mounting sentiment in Congress for a retail sales tax. The House Ways and Means Committee informally rejected the withholding tax proposal last year and a substantial number of members indicated recently they favored a sales levy.

PREFER SALES TAX

As evidence that this trend was spreading to the Senate, Sen. Brown (D.) of Michigan said he was convinced a majority of the finance committee would choose the sales tax, if they were convinced one of the two must be voted.

He estimated that a 3 per cent levy on all retail sales, including food, clothing and other necessities, would raise approximately $2,000,000,000. He said no estimates had been given on the return from proposed payroll taxes, although some legislators have figured that a 15 per cent levy would bring in approximately $4,000,000,000.

$1000 EXEMPTED

As outlined, the latter proposal would exempt the first $1000 of any year's salary as necessary for living expenses, the tax being applied above that point.

Brown said he looked for a proposal from the Treasury for the taxation of state and municipal bonds, although he did not believe either House or Senate would agree to make such a levy retroactive.

There seemed little disposition in Congress, he said, to attempt to lower present individual income tax exemptions. He added that boosting rates on both individual and corporation incomes would have to be considered.

Convoy Drifts For Sea Burial

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Jan. 29 (Delayed) (AP)—The entire convoy, including its strong force of escorting warships, in which I recently came to this north Atlantic garrison drifted en route for 12 minutes while a soldier was buried at sea.

It was a risky but impressive tribute to a private in the United States Army—Francis E. Metras of Detroit. He is believed to be the first American soldier in this war given a formal burial at sea.

Metras got considerable notice about a year ago when he was drafted two months after completing a regular four-year "hitch" in the Army.

He died after an abdominal operation.

SINGING AEF MARCHES OVER ULSTER'S HILLS

By RICE YAHNER

WITH THE AEF IN NORTHERN IRELAND, Jan. 30 (AP)—Hundreds of American soldiers, physically fit and ready for a fight, went for a route march through the Northern Ireland countryside today, singing as they marched.

As they passed through an Ulster town, they were given a great welcome.

The sentiment of the soldiers was expressed to me by a group standing in the center of their camp on a hillside among the trees of a former Irish estate.

"We are not surprised at anything any more," they said. "We have traveled 6000 miles in the last month and a half and surprises have run out.

"From here on we are ready to fight and get this thing over quickly."

LIKE PLACE "FINE"

The officer commanding this base concurred.

He said his boys, husky Midwesterners, are "ready for combat."

As one American and one who, like them, is a stranger in a land which has felt the enemy blast and fire, where there is a bewildering blackout every night, and where the left-sided traffic whisks about with such abandon it seems every other person must be killed, I asked some sergeants how they liked it over here.

The replies were a hearty "fine."

The sergeants were waiting for a heart-to-heart talk with their commander, who served in the first World War and could tell them how best to get along in the homeland of an ally.

BRITISH IMPRESSED

The small and secluded U. S. bases are scattered and indistinguishable from English soldier huts elsewhere. The huts, of corrugated metal, are like halves of giant casks, lying with the cut side down. The British assign 24 soldiers to each hut but only 16 Americans are quartered in these huts.

New Nazi Planes Easy RAF Prey

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Five of the new German Dornier 217 bombers publicized as being able to carry bombs to the United States have been destroyed thus far this year in night raids on Britain, the air ministry said today.

At least one was known to have been brought down late last year, it was stated, and the record this year also includes a number badly damaged.

"If its designers had hoped the speed of the new bomber would enable it to outfly our night fighters," the air ministry news service said, "they have been disappointed, for Beau fighters have done particularly well against it."

Two quick bursts from the guns of a Beaufighter finished one Dornier 217 caught raiding the northeast coast of England, it said, in a combat at 12,000 feet which lasted only a few seconds before the raider blew up with a terrific flash.

British Admit Fall of Bengasi

mand said British patrols in the Msus area, 70 miles southeast of Bengasi, forced Axis patrols to withdraw after a brief brush.

(An authoritative London source declared today that all British forces were removed from the Libyan port of Bengasi before it was occupied by the Axis, and military quarters said most British ammunition dumps and supplies were destroyed.

(A military commentator said some British forces might have been removed by sea, since there was no intention of making Bengasi "another Tobruk.")

The forces of Gen. Erwin Rommel which advanced on Bengasi from the south last Wednesday consisted of two strong columns, both including tanks, the Middle East command said.

"Deploying greatly superior strength in this area," the British said, "the Axis troops forced the 7th Indian Brigade to give ground despite its strong rearguard action.

"In the meantime, to the east of the escarpment, an even stronger enemy force which on Jan. 28 had reached Regima (16 miles east of Bengasi) also pressed on and by nightfall established itself across the coast road of Bengasi.

"These converging attacks by greatly superior enemy forces made further withdrawal of our troops inevitable, and the 4th Indian Division, which was covering Bengasi, now has been withdrawn northeast of the town."

REPORTER ON BOARD TELLS OF BARHAM WRECK

Larry Allen, the AP's veteran sea-going war correspondent attached to the British Mediterranean fleet, got back to New York on furlough a jump ahead of the story he wrote weeks ago describing the sinking of H. M. battleship Barham last Nov. 25 by torpedoes aimed at the battleship Queen Elizabeth, from which he witnessed the attack.

Allen wrote his story aboard the Queen Elizabeth for transmission to the United States when the censor would permit. The British Admiralty then withheld their announcement of the Barham's loss until last Tuesday to keep the information from the enemy for strategic reasons.

By that time Allen was hitchhiking homeward by air—part way with William C. Bullitt in an Army bomber—and he arrived only yesterday to recuperate from injuries and near-drowning suffered when the British cruiser Galatea was sunk under him after the Barham was sunk.

The story of the Barham, finally having cleared the British interval of strategy and then the censor in Egypt, arrived by cable a few hours after Allen got in. Here is the long delayed dispatch.

By LARRY ALLEN

ABOARD THE BRITISH MEDITERRANEAN FLAGSHIP QUEEN ELIZABETH, Nov. 25 (delayed by censor)—(AP)—The British battleship Barham, struck by four torpedoes from an enemy submarine, exploded and sank within five minutes today off the Libyan coast.

I saw the Barham go down in a huge cloud of flame and smoke in one of the most spectacular scenes of the war.

The blast was so great that it was believed the attacking submarine may well have been destroyed by concussion.

The fleet was making a wide westward sweep in search of Axis convoys when a single submarine made a daring daylight penetration of the line of destroyers screening battleships.

At a range of 700 yards, the submarine fired its salvos, apparently at the Queen Elizabeth.

RAN INTO RANGE

Just at that moment, this battleship made a quick zig-zag, and the torpedoes sped on to strike the Barham, which was following closely in battle formation.

In the commander's cabin I heard the successive clanging crash of the torpedoes and raced to the upper deck.

The Barham, a 31,000-ton giant, already was listing heavily to port.

As I watched, she wobbled over more heavily, like some punch-drunk prize fighter.

From quarterdeck to forecastle, all along her starboard side, hundreds of men began leaping into the calm, blue water that contrasted with the ruddy rays of the setting sun.

As the bodies struck the sea, they forced up little fountains which shone like diamonds.

HEADS BOBBING IN SEA

Score after score of sailors plunged from the battleship. Soon I could see hundreds of heads bobbing above the surface. Some sailors managed to throw rubber floats down from the ship, upon which clambered dozens of men soon after they hit the water.

That all happened between 4:23 and 4:30 p. m., Nov. 25. Executive officers of the Barham ordered, "Abandon ship!" Immediately afterward a heavy list developed and the Barham blew up at 4:30.

As the battleship Valiant veered away from the Barham this flagship continued moving slowly eastward. The Barham was violently shaken by a series of blasts and burst into a great mass of flame and then was enveloped by a huge cloud of black smoke.

The air reeked with cordite fumes. Immediately with the explosions I saw huge sheets of armor-plating, whole sections of the battleship, and the Barham's big motor launch flung hundreds of feet into the air, falling with a loud smack into the sea dangerously near this battleship and the Valiant.

SHUT IN BY SMOKE

The tremendous compression of the air seemed to muffle the explosion.

All I felt aboard this battleship, which had pulled away to about 1000 yards' distance, was a brisk gust of air.

Then black smoke spread over so wide an expanse of sea that I no longer could see the men or rafts in the water.

From both sides of the Queen Elizabeth, destroyers steamed full-speed into the smoke that was the funeral pyre of one of Britain's greatest fighting ships.

They started picking up survivors and hunting the submarine simultaneously.

As the smoke drifted away, there was nothing to be seen of the Barham.

Within a few seconds of the explosion of her magazines, she had vanished. It had happened so quickly that it was difficult to believe what my own eyes had seen.

SUB FORCED TO SURFACE

The busy destroyers picked up about 500 of the Barham's 1400 men, including vice-Admr. Pridham Wippell, his secretary and 12 other officers.

The submarine apparently passed almost directly between the Barham and the battleship Valiant after firing the torpedoes.

It was so close inboard that the explosion of the torpedoes forced it momentarily to the surface. Some of the officers aboard this battleship said they saw the conning tower bob above water.

Then came the tremendous explosion of the Barham's magazines, and several officers expressed belief that the submarine, being so near, must have been crushed by the underwater concussion.

Two hours after the Barham was gone, Capt. C. B. Barry of this battleship told the ship's company over the loudspeaker:

"You will all be glad to know that approximately 500 were saved from the Barham, including the Vice-Admiral and his secretary."

REQUIEM FOR HEROES

Then, as every man aboard stood silently at his action station, an emotion-choked voice came over the speaker:

"This is the Padre speaking. While we are thankful for those who are saved, let us not forget those who lost their lives, or, rather, have gone to a better life . . . let us pray.

"O, Lord, grant those who have died thy peace; let thy protection shine upon them—these men who have given their lives for freedom."

This was the simple, moving requiem for the men of the Barham.

Their great ship, built in 1915 as a super-dreadnaught, participated in the battle of Jutland in 1916.

In the quiet years of peace, she spent much of her time in this very sea, the Mediterranean, on the empire's business.

She was damaged by a German submarine two years ago. (The Germans and the French also said she was damaged again in the Dakar battle in September, 1940.) But she survived to carry her great battery of eight 15-inch guns into the battles of Cape Matapan and Crete and numerous lesser engagements before the familiar waters of the Mediterranean became her tomb.

direct for Java. Others believed it is trying to aim simultaneous attacks on the Borneo port of Banjermassin and the Celebes island capital of Macassar—both strategic bases for an assault on Java.

54 SHIPS IN 54 DAYS

An official naval summary claimed the Dutch air and naval forces have sunk or heavily damaged 54 Japanese vessels of all classifications in the first 54 days of the Pacific war, an average of one a day.

The Dutch military communique said:

"Enemy air activity, especially reconnaissance activity, continues over several parts of the archipelago. Here and there bombs were dropped which caused slight damage to material but no persons were killed.

"Reports from the vicinity of Balik Papan show that the fighting there continues not only near Balik Papan, but also in the town itself.

"The Japanese steal all foodstuffs on which they can lay their hands, while cooking utensils and bicycles are also stolen. The Japanese have issued worthless banknotes on which it is printed that the Japanese government will reimburse the bearer for certain amounts—a half guilder, a guilder, etc.

"Reports from Minahassa have been received from which it can be concluded that our guerillas are still regularly operating. Particulars about losses are not yet available.

"There were no further reports from Pontianak and Kendari."

Less Than Half Car Owners Have Stamps

Less than half the car owners in Massachusetts have purchased federal auto tax stamps to date, federal officials announced today in renewing their warning the stamps must be on every motor vehicle using the highways by Sunday.

The stamps cost $2.09 each and owners of any automobile, truck or motorcycle found without the stamp are liable to a fine of $25 or 30 days in jail or both. The stamps can be purchased in any postoffice or on the seventh floor of the federal building.

Nelson Gets 1500 Letters a Day—Not All Fan Mail

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (INS)—There's a mail boom at the War Production Board.

Chairman Donald M. Nelson gets from 1500 to 2000 letters a day since President Roosevelt placed him in full charge of the all-time greatest war production machine, but he has time to read only 20 or 25 of them.

A special correspondence section of the War Production Board and Nelson's own secretarial staff usually take care of the remaining hundreds of letters.

PACIFIC WAR COUNCIL SET FOR WASHINGTON

By LEE VAN ATTA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MELBOURNE, Jan. 30 (INS)—Australian authorities revealed today that headquarters of the newly-created Pacific War Council would be in Washington.

OFFICIAL NEWS

Establishment of the Pacific council was announced by Prime Minister Churchill earlier this week in his address opening the war debate of the House of Commons.

Creation of the council marks another step in efforts of the United Nations to obtain the fullest possible co-ordination and unity of action against Japan in the Pacific.

That this aim already is well on the way to achievement was demonstrated in a statement of Australian Army Minister Francis M. Forde that initiative in the Pacific conflict already has passed to the United Nations.

INITIATIVE GAINED

This view was supported by advices that the roaring sea battle in Macassar Strait by now has knocked out no less than 46 Japanese warships and transports.

If these reports are substantiated, it would mean the original Japanese invasion fleet which started out last week on a perilous voyage between Borneo and Celebes islands now has been reduced by nearly one-half.

Forde described this smashing blow as the first real check to Japanese seapower since the Pacific war began.

"It is evidence," he declared, "that we can seek out the Japanese and attack them.

"The initiative has passed to the Allies in the Pacific."

PREPARE FOR DEFENSE

Paying tribute to the Netherlands Indies, Forde said he believed they could hold out until the United Nations muster enough strength to crush the Japs.

Despite this optimistic view however, preparations for defense of the Australian mainland were moving ahead at top speed.

Voluntary evacuation of women and children from some areas of the northeast coastal area, menaced by the Japanese landings on New Britain Island, continued, and other precautions were being perfected.

Northeastern coastal towns also prepared for possible Japanese bombing raids.

Forde expressed the view a Japanese invasion of Australia is more probable than a Nazi invasion of Britain. He said the government considers an invasion a "logical possibility."

DON'T BE CONTENTED

By Elsie Robinson

SOMETHING gone wrong just when you thought you were sitting pretty at last? And you're disgusted enough to quit?

"Are things always going to be like this?" you cry. "Won't I ever get the breaks?"

No. Never the breaks you want. Of this you may be sure—whatever you get out of life it won't be enough.

If you're a healthy human, you'll never be perfectly happy, comfortable or satisfied. You'll always be wanting something, rebelling against something. You'll be discontented. But there's nothing abnormal about that. You shouldn't grieve over it. Or peeve over it. Still less should you settle down and try to be resigned.

ACCEPT DISCONTENT as a normal and necessary condition of your life—and thank God for it!

For the day you're satisfied, completely contented, that day you'll be through . . . that day you'll be as through with this life as though you had died.

You can't go on living and be satisfied. If you're satisfied, you stay put. If you're living, you push on. And pushing on is bound to mean discontentment and rebellion. Growth is just one dissatisfaction after another.

You and I are here today because, billions of years ago, a one-celled gob in a primeval swamp rebelled. Wanted two cells instead of one. Got all swelled up with discontent until it expanded into two cells—and then grew on and on—through countless discontents—until there came a creature with a brain and soul called man.

That's the scientific story of life.

AND THE BIBLE'S STORY—

"And the Lord God formed man of the dust of ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life: And man became a living soul."

A little dumb dust in the great hand of God—and that was all man was at first—until God filled him with the breath of life.

What was the secret of that breath? What did the great busy God do to a little dumb dust to turn it into a man—made in His image?

He breathed into that dust His own wish for life . . . His own creative restlessness . . . His own divine discontent. God had discontent. That old Book of Genesis is the story of the magnificent, insatiable discontent. God wasn't satisfied with an empty sky, a sterile earth. He hung new stars within that sky. He planted trees within that earth. And from dumb dust He made—His partner—to share His discontent—to share the glory and the grief of discontent.

Do not peeve or grieve about discontent. Do not try to make yourself resigned. Accept it! Be glad for it! Get busy with it! It is the most sacred gift you have!

COMING AS A surprise to his many friends in Boston's top notch social circles is news of the marriage last Saturday of George Hastings Swift, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Swift of Commonwealth ave. . . . When George went to Chicago, home of his distinguished forebears, a little over a year ago to carve out a career in business, he not only found a job, but romance as well . . . His bride is the former Byrd Worthington Littlefield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Goodrich Littlefield of North State Parkway, who are today announcing the marriage . . .

It is very appropriate that George should have chosen a Chicago girl as his life mate for his family has long been outstanding in Windy City society and two of his sisters, Lucile and Ruth married Chicago men and make their homes there . . . Lucille is Mrs. DeForest Paine Davis and Ruth is the wife of Erret Van Nice . . .

George's third sister is Mrs. Lawrence Lowell Reeve of Cambridge . . . They are great grandchildren of the late Gustavus Swift, founder of the famous packing company which bears his name . . . Before entering upon a business career the bridegroom attended Deerfield Academy and Harvard, and is now on active duty in the Army . . .

His bride, a Chicago debutante of the 1939-40 season, made her debut at a ball at the Blackstone Hotel . . . The wedding took place in St. Louis, Mo., and the honeymooners are now in Washington, D. C., en route to the bridegroom's post at an Army camp in Virginia . . .

WAR BLITZED Anne Whipple's plans to be maid of honor at Eleanor Van Kleeck's wedding today. She was delayed on return trip from West Indies and has to miss the wedding.

THOUGH A WAR BRIDE, popular Eleanor Van Kleeck of Brookline is having all the thrill of a traditional society bridal with satin and old lace for her marriage this afternoon to Arthur Graham Mitton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Mitton of Marlborough st. . . .

Dr. Oliver J. Hart of Trinity Church and Rev. Cornelius Trowbridge of the Church of the Redeemer in Chestnut Hill are performing the five o'clock ceremony in the Church of the Redeemer . . . Given in marriage by her father, Mr. Walter Van Kleeck, the bride is wearing a gown of white satin with long tight sleeves and a very long train over which her veil falls in graceful folds . . . The veil is her great grandmother's rose point lace held to her hair with a half circlet of orange blossoms across the back . . . Her bouquet combines stephanotis, freesia and white orchids . . .

Mrs. Robert Ogden of Lake Forest, Ill., sister of the bridegroom, is matron of honor and the bridesmaids are Mrs. John L. Allen, Mrs. Charles R. Miles, Miss Sue Carl of Chestnut Hill, and Mrs. Howard Wheeler of Wrentham . . . With their gowns and bonnets of turquoise velveteen the bridesmaids are carrying yellow roses and the matron of honor talisman roses . . . Post deb Anne Whipple has been delayed in the return trip from a visit to the West Indies and has to forego the fun of taking part as maid of honor as planned . . .

Robert Ogden is best man for his brother-in-law and John H. Perry head usher.

New Test for Kenny Paralysis Treatment

By G. B. LAL
International News Service Science Editor

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Jan. 30 (INS)—The new treatment for infantile paralysis developed by Sister Elizabeth Kenny will be given the most careful trial, under exceptionally climatic and scientific auspices, at the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation here.

At the physical therapy department of the "isolation ward," soon to be opened here, the Kenny treatment will be tried with scientific rigor.

IMPRESSED WITH METHOD

Dr. Robert L. Bennett, who has just returned from the University of Minnesota Medical School and Hospital, where Sister Kenny herself has been treating patients, is very much impressed.

He says that the Kenny method does not consist simply in the application of hot packs to the paralysis-struck muscles in the earliest stage of the disease. Applying heat to the muscles twitching with spasms so that they might be relaxed is only one factor.

HOW IT PROGRESSES

At present, the medical picture of the paralyzing effects of infantile paralysis appears to be this:

The virus of poliomyelitis especially acts upon the nerve cell, "neuron." In the spinal cord's nerve cells which control "motor nerves," the nerves that cause the working of the muscles, the virus produces damage, of various degrees. If the nerve cell is completely destroyed, then the nerve fiber withers away, and paralysis is permanent.

Big 'Death Toll' In Conn. 'Raid'

NEW BRITAIN, Ct., Jan. 30 (AP)—Many persons were "killed or injured" tonight in the state's first blackout of a city, which, despite this "toll" brought praise from defense officials and the state police.

Lights went out at 8:35 and the city remained black until 9 p. m. when officials announced 40 "incidents," 20 of them covered by emergency equipment, including the fire department.

Flares simulating bombs, illumined numerous places known only to the police and defense authorities beforehand. The blackout was observed by 100 officials from other cities and towns.

Gas Raids Here Seen Unlikely

"The odds are against enemy use of gas attacks in air raids," Massachusetts was assured today by J. W. Farley, executive director of the State Committee on Public Safety.

At a meeting of the Republican Club of Massachusetts, the state's civilian defense head declared that use of any known gas in a bombing raid would not be as effective as high explosives. It is expected, however, that part of the proposed $1,500,000 legislative appropriation for civilian protection will be used for purchase of gas masks.

Farley also told of plans for a series of air raid tests, starting with neighborhood rehearsals and progressing to community, sectional and regional tests, to be climaxed by a state-wide air raid drill.

Father Enlists in Navy To Avenge His Son

DETROIT, Jan. 30 (AP)—Walter J. Willis, 46, of Detroit, sought to enlist in the United States Navy to avenge the death of his son, Ensign Walter M. Willis of the Naval Air Corps, killed in action at Pearl Harbor Dec. 7.

He told recruiting officers he had served in the merchant marine in 1934, spending several years in the Far East. Marine officers said he passed his preliminary physical tests and was likely to be accepted.

★BE AMERICAN

OUR DAILY CITATION: To Brig.-Gen. William H. Bisbee of Babcock st., Brookline, the oldest living retired Army officer in the United States. His desire, despite his 102 years, to serve in his fifth war for the United States should be an inspiration to the youth of America.

THE conference of American Foreign Ministers in Rio De Janeiro, representing twenty-one American Republics, closed after delegates signed a declaration of INTENTION to sever diplomatic relations with Germany, Italy and Japan.

This declaration will have force or lack force, according to subsequent decision by the constitutional institutions of each of the Governments concerned.

It now seems certain that nineteen of the Republics will give the declaration immediate force.

Argentina and Chile are the two reluctant neighbors, but many believe Chile will soon fall in line.

Both have consented to the "declaration of intention."

Whether either or both will EVER carry out the declared intention depends entirely on their own decisions which they are completely free to make.

Frankly, the United States expected or at least HOPED for something more substantial from the Rio conference.

THE UNITED STATES is at war, and wants and needs all the active allies it can get.

The United States particularly wants and needs the active support of its American neighbors; and quite candidly that was why the conference was called.

But the conference is not to be considered a failure because it did not meet our maximum desires.

It was in fact a conspicuous success for several very important reasons.

It was successful first of all because, while it did not accomplish everything we desired, it accomplished a great deal of vital importance to us.

We need only to consult the map to establish this fact.

Our life-line in the Western Hemisphere is the Panama Canal.

With no exceptions, all of the nations north of the Canal have either entered the war outright and on our side, or broken off relations with our enemies.

South of the Canal of course is the continent of South America.

This great continent roughly resembles a huge ice cream cone.

The great bulk of the cone is made up of nations which are our committed friends, comprising the remaining nineteen which give us no doubts.

Argentina and Chile are the two southernmost nations of the continent, the "handle" of the cone, and thus the most remote from the vital Canal.

So we have accomplished a great deal, obviously, in extending our area of friendship and safety beyond the great bulge of South America.

BUT THE CONFERENCE was successful in another very important way.

It did not disclose Argentina and Chile to be at odds with us in any way, and more important still did not estrange them.

It wisely recognized Argentina and Chile as sovereign nations, with a perfect right to decide their international policies for themselves, in their own self-interests as they see them—and moreover, honestly respected and honored that right.

Thus, the Rio conference had no remote resemblance to what might have occurred in similar circumstances in a European or Asiatic zone of influence.

These were not puppet states, to be intimidated or bribed for their favors. They were completely sovereign states, and were so considered and dealt with by their neighbors.

That is the only way the American Republics should ever deal with each other. It is the only way a genuine solidarity of enterprise, as well as mutuality of interest, will ever be achieved in the Western Hemisphere.

Thus it was not only a successful conference, but a sound and honest and intelligent conference, which greatly increased the safety of the Hemisphere, and eventually will establish peace and prosperity.

A NEW VICTORY has been won for the American soldiers, sailors, marines and other members of the armed forces of the United States.

The Senate wisely passed a bill giving our troops free mailing privileges on their letters home or elsewhere.

The bill authorizing this free mailing was proposed several months ago by the Boston American. Sen. Van Nuys (D.) of Indiana was the official sponsor.

Thus this bill solves another problem which eats into the small pay of our youths in arms.

On The Side

-:- -:- By E. V. DURLING

Oh! talk not to me of name great in story,
The days of our youth are the days of our glory,
And the myrtle and ivy of sweet two and twenty
Are worth all your laurels, though ever so plenty.

—BYRON.

"YOUTH comes once in a lifetime," said Longfellow. "Young fellows will be young fellows," observed Bickerstaff. "The wildest colts make the best horses," stated Themistocles. And Omar said: "Ah! that Spring should vanish with the rose. That youth's sweet manuscript should close."

THE REASON some people like such a gloomy and pessimistic view of the war situation is because they are scared to death. As Marcus Aurelius said: "Fear makes men ready to believe the worst" . . . In 1932 the weight of the average woman's clothes, not counting overcoats, was three and a half pounds. Now it is two and a half pounds in the winter and one and a half pounds in the summer. Weight of average man's clothing is 10 pounds. If you can correctly pronounce the words domicile, impious, precedence, irreparable and consummate it reveals you have the pronounciation situation well in hand.

A. 1—Tackle and guard. 2—First base. 3—Psi Upsilon. 4—Springfield, Mass., Republican, New York Morning Telegraph, New York Evening Globe. Q. What author wrote: "The World, the Flesh and the Devil?" A.—It is from the Book of Common Prayer. Q.—To decide a bet, isn't there a race horse trainer named Noble Halfwit? A.—Not that I know of, sir. But there is one named Noble Threewit. Q.—Isn't it true that men who are a little wild when young make better husbands than those who are not so wild? A.—Regret this department has no information on this matter. All I know is that Shakespeare stated: "They say the best men are moulded out of faults. And for the most, become much more better for being a little bad."

PLEASE NOTE: The hit of the film "Louisiana Purchase" was Victor Moore, who in 1943 will have been on the stage and screen 50 years. He made his first stage hit in George M. Cohan's "Forty-Five Minutes From Broadway." I think he was the funniest in his vaudeville act: "Change Your Act or Back to the Woods" . . . Of course you can read feminine character by handwriting. But one of the best ways to read a woman's character is by the way she furnishes a house . . . "If at first you don't succeed," said Mark Twain, "Get a government job" . . . Of the epitaphs of film stars in the Hollywood cemetery the most touching is: "Barbara La Marr. 1896-1926. With God in the joy and beauty of youth."

SIDELIGHTS: Listen to Gene Tunney: "The man who has allowed his body to deteriorate is a pitiful figure; chest collapsed, stomach protruding. His sagging diaphragm forces his visceral apparatus out of place, hindering digestive and eliminative processes." Mr. Tunney says the male bulge sometimes referred to as a "corporation" can be eliminated by 15 minutes of army setting up exercises before breakfast . . . Now that I think of it, can't Ethel Waters sing the St. Louis Blues better than any of the present singers and as well as any of the past? . . . Said Sallust: "Anyone, even a coward, can commence a war, but it can be brought to an end only with the consent of the victors."

PASSING BY: "Klondike Mike" Mahoney, colorful old-timer, claims to have been present at the shooting of Dan McGrew and also says he knew the lady known as Lou . . . Donald Crisp, only member of the cast of D. W. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation" who is still active in Hollywood. He played General Grant in that film . . . Freeman Gosden, the Amos of Amos an' Andy. In the last war Freeman was a naval communications officer. He is the only fellow I know of who shaves with two safety razors; one in each hand. He says he can shave in 56 seconds . . . Rise Stevens. A New York city girl who made good in the Metropolitan Opera and in Hollywood. Her first name is pronounced Ree-sa. She is married to a Hungarian she met in Prague.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: The only American city properly organized for air raid protection is Chicago. So states Carroll Levis, who recently arrived from England and made a tour of the United States . . . When I pronounced ski as "skee" a nearby pronunciation corrector said it should be "shee." Either "skee" or "shee" is correct, the latter being the Norwegian pronunciation. I don't care for skiing. My favorite winter sports are skating, bob-sledding and sitting in front of a large fireplace . . . Over 250,000 members of the AEF were awarded the order of the purple heart decoration, it having been given to every man wounded in action. Over 5000 were awarded the distinguished service cross. But only 94 received the congressional medal of honor.

ASIDES: Where did you paste your automobile use tax sticker? In New Jersey it is against the law to paste anything on the windshield of an automobile. And it's a good law, too. Speaking of "use" taxes, the idea seems to have unlimited possibilities. I am against any more "use" taxes, though I wouldn't object too strongly if they put one on long cigarette holders . . . The United States was the first nation to use a submarine in warfare. That was in 1777. This submarine, the Turtle, didn't sink anything. First successful submarine attack of all time was that made by a Confederate submarine on Feb. 17, 1864, when it sunk the Union ship Housatonic in Charleston, S. C. harbor.

Broadway's Voice

A BRIGHT LIGHT FANTASIA

By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—If some midnight I won a magic wand in a balloon at the Stork Club, there are a few changes I would make in this fascinating and fast-moving village. Nothing serious. Just a few improvements. I'd forbid and remove all neon signs over Broadway, and arrange the substitution of the infinitely more glamorous twinkling, easy-on-the-eyes electric light bulbs that Thomas A. Edison invented . . . I'd plant a few more trees here and there, because they look so beautiful in the spring against the skyscrapers . . . Radio commentators with war news to tell would have Spencer Tracy's voice, which soothes, rather than scares . . . All male halves of night club dance teams would have the quasi-comedy Danny Kaye quality of Don Loper instead of the pale oiled suffering note that most of the others strike; and only the Hartmans, who make it an art, would be allowed to burlesque The Dance . . . Every playboy would stay married to the belle he chose until death did them part . . . Movies portraying our Army or Navy in low comedy vein would perish in their aluminum cans . . . Every theater on Broadway would house a hit show.

MARGOT GRAHAME

IF I WERE QUEEN, Bing Crosby would sing for me after breakfast and Rosario and Antonio would dance for me after dinner . . . All my subjects would wear Red Cross buttons . . . Wonderful Bobby Clark would be court jester and Darryl Zanuck would be master of the hounds . . . I'd decree a national lottery to be paid off in defense bonds . . . I'd chide, perhaps banish, th emotion picture lassies whose notion of helping the country was posing beside a bomber with skirts draped above her knees . . . I'd set Freddy Martin to work in bringing Puccini's melodies to the whistling masses . . . Debutantes who swallowed gin slings would be only kitchen maids in my palace . . . Vinton Freedly would produce the court musicals.

IF I WERE A PRODUCER, I'd mortgage the old homestead to induce Noel Coward to write an opus for Bea Lillie, and then I'd try to get Bea to come over and play in it . . . I'd do a revival of "The Petrified Forest," with Leslie Howard and Peggy Conklin and Humphrey Bogart in their original roles . . . I'd build a theater that had seats like the ones in the loge at the Capitol . . . I'd give away a block of tickets nightly, including Saturday, to the USO . . . I'd advertise my show in motion picture studio fashion . . . Oscar Levant would be my pit director . . . I'd keep it clean!

IF I WERE A PRESS AGENT, I wouldn't dream up items about Marlene Dietrich and how lovely she looked at the Clunk Club if she were actually 3000 miles away in Hollywood . . . I'd hit myself over the head with a typewriter before describing a singer as an "international diseuse" . . . I wouldn't tell the reporters about my client's French convent background when the kids still remember how she played hookey from Brooklyn High . . . I'd keep my ears alert and my copy pertinent . . . I'd hang a motto over my desk which read: "Truth is as interesting as fiction."

IF I WERE A BANDLEADER, would I have fun! . . . I'd open my sets with Gershwin and close with Cole Porter . . . I'd sit when my vocalist was singing, not attract attention to myself by wiggling and jiggling . . . I wouldn't have arrangements that required the whole band to join in on the vocal unless the whole band could sing . . . I'd hire Tony Martin . . . I'd give out batons to the music?struck kids . . . I'd balance swing numbers with ballads . . . I'd dish out no corn . . . My girl vocalist wouldn't execute a jitterbug number unless her name were Betty Hutton . . . I wouldn't tell jokes!

IF I WERE STYLE ARBITER, men would wear garters and they would get the bird if they wore feathers in their hatbands except when shooting grouse . . . Fat girls who wore ballet dresses would be compelled to go on an eight-month diet . . . I would limit Carrie Munn to earrings with a diameter of no more than five inches, because of priorities . . . I wouldn't allow toeless and heel-less shoes in the subway in February . . . I'd promote polka-dot dresses on size 14's, because men seem to like them . . . I'd strike a gold Congressional medal for Margot Grahame because her decolletages persistently save unnecessary material . . . I would let only one girl in a hundred wear her hair upsweep . . . And any girl who wore her fur wrap on the dance floor at El Morocco would have it taken away —by the installment man!

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

INSTEAD OF A STAR—a manager was honored guest at the Cocoanut Grove's weekly theatrical guest night . . . The manager was the nationally-known Rube Bernstein, who has been coming to Boston for forty-odd years with this h't or that, and is in town currently with "My Sister Eileen" . . . Mr. Bernstein has a host of Boston friends and he was cheered louder than the Brazilian navy conga-line curtain at the end of the second act of his hit show . . . But the night wasn't altogether the comedy success Maestro Mickey Alpert had planned it to be . . . The industrious Mickey had a script all written for the Bernstein party.

AFTER INTRODUCING the gravel-voiced Rube, who would have stumbled through the customary speech of acknowledgment while the audience settled back tolerantly to be bored for a few minutes, Alpert had planned to "assist" the honored guest by presenting "his secretary, Miss Strange" . . . The strange part of such an introduction is that the "secretary" actually was to be a girl named Strange . . . But the nearest she has been to a typewriter is the typewritten notice on the callboard of the country's best burleycue houses, where train schedules and notices of closing are posted.

MISS STRANGE, WHO IS BILLED this week at the Globe as "Peaches Strange," then was to have gone into her usual act, and the act—if it had been presented according t script—would have been little short of sensational (and "Peaches," would have been a little short, eventually, of clothes) . . . But there strolled into the Grove a few moments before Mr. Bernstein was introduced a certain Col. Al Somerby, who happens to be Miss Strange's real boss . . . Mr. Bernstein's new-found "secretary" signaled furiously that the act was off . . . The party was a great success, however . . . The six gold-stripers from the Brazilian Navy who help make "My Sister Eileen" such a success started a conga-line . . . Boston has never seen a conga-line so vigorously handled. P. S. "Peaches' did her stuff—mildly—later and collected money for the President's March of Dimes.

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: Boston's musical city father, Councilman John C. Wickes, will sing his self-composed song, "He's a Great American," at the President's Ball tonight at the Garden . . . Roger Magee collaborated on the ditty . . . The number lost its amateur standing, by the way, weeks ago .

YOU MIGHT TRY LISTENING to a Dorchester girl, Virginia Hauer, tonight at the Garden . . . Virginia is a member of the Dorchester chorus, and is very, very good . . . She has taken a rain check on a New York vocalizing job because her parents wished her to finish college . . . Miss Hauer gets a degree this June (when she'll still be only 19) . . . She will sing "Take Back Your Gold," an oldie, at the President's Ball . . . Connie Reardon, Mayor Tobin's chief secretary, is beating a strep infection of the throat at City Hospital . . . Another widely-known secretary to a prominent politico, Miss Mary Rogers, will take permanent leave of Sen. David I. Walsh's secretariat when she becomes Mrs. Frank Craven, wife of the golf-playing boss of Archie L. Jackson's . . . The date of the ceremony has not been announced.

BOSS' APPEARANCE CLIPPED HER ACT

"Peaches" Strange Does Her Bit for Charity

HUMAN NATURE BEING WHAT it is, Charles MacArthur may be excused if he is not too broken-hearted at the evil reception given Ben Hecht's play, "Lily of the Valley," by the New York drama critics . . . The famous Hecht-MacArthur writing team split asunder this season when Charlie wrote "Johnny on a Spot," and Hecht wrote his solo opus (about the doings in a morgue) . . . Charlie's play failed too quickly even to qualify as an artistic success . . . The mourners-bench then filled overnight with the Monday Morning quarterbacks of Broadway . . . So Hecht unveiled his first offering written without MacArthur in many seasons the other night . . . If anything, the critics were less gentle with the Hecht play than they were with Charlie's earlier "Johnny on a Spot" . . . But the twin failures are not expected to bring about a new Hecht-MacArthur merger . . . Charlie is busying himself with a drama for his wife, Helen Hayes.

HEDY LAMARR SET FOR NEW ROLE

By Louella O. Parsons

Hedy Lamarr

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30—More actresses have told me they wanted to play Mildred Cram's heroine in "Forever" than any other story I can remember. Janet Gaynor bought the rights years ago and held them in the fond hope she might do the story—but when "Forever" comes to the screen Hedy Lamarr will be the star, and the title is changed to "Distant Valley." Robert Taylor is set for the co-starring role opposite Hedy in this fantasy about two lovers of the spirit world who meet and fall in love on earth. Sidney Franklin, who is just out of the hospital after four weeks, has been working with writers on "Forever"—for this tender and sentimental story is right up his street. Sidney will produce, but so far it isn't decided whether he will direct. Just between us, the price M-G-M planked down for the 15-page book is a record—particularly since the story is more of an idea than a fully developed plot.

MARY ASTOR

SURPRISING to hear that Clarence Brown, who has been with M-G-M almost since the cornerstone of that studio was laid, is leaving. Clarence has decided to free lance, making only such pictures as capture his fancy. He declined a new three-year contract because he wants to work only when he feels in the mood. During his 16 years with Leo the Lion he made some of M-G-M's best movies. Possibly his outstanding ones were the great Garbo-John Gilbert love stories that were a veritable gold mine to the company. "Anna Christie," "Letty Lynton," "A Free Soul" were directed by him. Also "The Rains Came," "Idiots Delight" and "Edison, the Man."

THE COMBINATION of Mary Astor, Humphrey Bogart and Sydney Greenstreet brings back memories of what hit picture? The bright reader who answers "The Maltese Falcon" is 100 per cent right, and maybe you think Warners haven't this hot success in mind in announcing Mary, Bogey and the fat and fabulous Mr. Greenstreet for a repeat performance in "Aloha Means Good-bye." Like the "Falcon," this new story is a high adventure yarn about espionage in Honolulu, with Bogey playing an FBI agent posing as a spy for the yellow perils. It will be John Huston's last before he joins the Army.

A LINE OR TWO: Don't be surprised if Hunt Stromberg and M-G-M forget their differences and Hunt remains with Leo the Lion. Hear tell he has had a gilt-edged invitation to remain and forget his resignation . . . The Parents Magazine has handed its yearly bouquet to Roddy McDowall as the outstanding child star of 1941. Last year Mickey Rooney was selected—and now think of it. He is a married man.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Philip Dorn has turned down Katharine Hepburn's offer to play opposite her on the stage to remain with M-G-M; Hedy Lamarr and George Montgomery still finding each other pleasant company, dining at the Tail o' the Cock; Franchot Tone reported not so well. It's the old ailment that had him in the hospital for so many weeks; The Masquers are giving Herbert H. Yates, up and coming head of Republic, a testimonial dinner in recognition of the rise of Republic; Grace Fields and Monty Banks will probably make a picture before many weeks. Hear tell Arnold Pressburger is interested in them; Constance Moore called off her tour of the Army camps. The report given is wisdom tooth trouble; Rosalind Russell makes a tour of the eastern camps after the President's ball; B. P. Schulberg celebrates 30 years as a movie producer this week.

ALL HEROES AREN'T GIVEN WAR MEDALS

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD A MAN-O'-WAR WITH THE U. S. PACIFIC FLEET, Jan. 30 (INS)—The saving of human life is recognized as an act of heroism in the United States Navy when it is accomplished in some manner beyond the normal call of duty.

But when it is within the so-called "bounds of duty" it passes unnoticed, often almost ignored.

This is a tribute to one of those unsung heroes. He is the captain of a heavy-built cruiser, a good-looking, blue-eyed man who has the complete loyalty and admiration of every officer and man aboard.

All captains are presumed to be able to handle their ships skillfully but this captain happens to be outstanding.

A heavy cruiser is about the length of the usual city block, displaces more than 10,000 tons, is cranky, obstinate, often ornery, and is somewhat like handling a floating office building.

THE GENTLE TOUCH

Nevertheless, this captain put his big craft alongside two small and fragile craft in restless seas with amazing skill and accuracy, the lives of several men in the balance.

On a destroyer a young officer was stricken with appendicitis. He had to be transferred to this cruiser, which carries hospital facilities. The captain sent a small motor boat for him, but in getting away from the destroyer the engine on the small boat stalled and left it tossing helplessly on the waves. There was nothing to do except to put the cruiser alongside the little craft, despite the great danger of swamping or crushing it.

ACCURACY IS PERFECT

But the cruiser captain laid his giant fighting craft up against the little boat, his accuracy and skill perfect.

Later, one of the cruiser's planes was forced down at sea by motor trouble. Again the captain gentled his destructive giant to exactly the right place at the right instant.

But that's what he's supposed to do, so officially he's no hero.

Canning Factory Burns; $100,000 Loss

FREEDOM, Me., Jan. 30—Despite efforts of firemen from four communities, the Monmouth canning factory here was fire-swept ruins today, total damage being estimated unofficially at $100,000.

It employed 200 men in the regular canning season and was the principal source of income for 300 farmers in this district.

RUBBER OR NOT, THERE'LL BE GIRDLES APLENTY

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP)—If Milady has been worrying—and some say she has—that this rubber shortage is going to keep her out of shape, she can stop it right now.

For rubber, or no rubber, she's going to have just as many foundation garments, essential to neat dressers, as she ever had—and maybe more.

So said the girdle, brassiere and corset makers as they prepared to show retail merchandisers and buyers newly designed garments which can be constructed with little or no rubber, and be produced in quantities sufficient for normal demands.

CLINIC SHOWS LATEST

A corset clinic, said by its sponsors to be the only one of its kind in the country, opening Monday in the Merchandise Mart, will give the merchandisers a peek at what's new underneath Milady's outer garments.

Some of the new girdles, brassieres and corsets, use single stretch rubber fabrics, but in such small quantity, as compared with previous designs, that the anticipated allotment of rubber to the industry, will not limit the number of garments scheduled to be made during the year.

GOOD STYLING

The new theory of corsetry eases the necessity of two-way stretch rubber. It utilizes, the manufacturers explained, stretchable cloth and available materials in new ways which provide the same support, with good styling, which rubber fabrics formerly did.

The corset and brassiere industry did $119,782,850 worth of retail business in 1941, an all-time record, the manufacturers reported, adding they were preparing to do as well in 1942—rubber or no.

Brazil Starts Cutting Last of Ties to Axis

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 30 (AP)—The continent's largest nation, gave vivid evidence today of putting into practice Pan-America's avowed determination to wipe out the last vestiges of aid and comfort to the Axis.

As the great cannon of Fort Copacabana at the mouth of Rio's harbor boomed practice rounds, authorities of the federal district ordered a rigorous scrutiny of all social, cultural and recreational associations to determine whether they covered any anti-Brazilian activities. Porto Alegre authorities ordered imprisonment of all persons expressing sympathy with the aggressor nations.

12 IN PLANE PLUNGE

Tragedy struck close to the homeward bound delegates to the foreign ministers' parley which closed last night with a triumphal affirmation of Western Hemisphere solidarity.

An airliner carrying the 12-man Argentine delegation fell into the sea near the Rio De Janeiro airport, but all were saved. Enrique Ruiz Guinazu, the Argentine foreign minister, suffered slight injuries.

Members of the German, Italian and Japanese embassies here, who had been handed their passports last evening, were burning documents tonight. There are about 250 Axis diplomatic and consular representatives in the country.

CAN'T TALK IN GERMAN

Henceforth all societies in Brazil must be two-thirds Brazilian in membership and all political discussion therein is banned. The Porto Alegre police even prohibited public use of the German, Italian and Japanese languages. At Bahia and other points, foreigners were ordered to register quickly.

Pan-American leaders hailed the accord between Peru and Ecuador on their century-old border trouble, which made possible successful conclusion of the conference, as a victory for American principles of conciliation.

When Britishers Let Beer Freeze In Pumps It's COLD

LONDON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Now it can be told: A severe snowstorm swept Britain 10 days ago, isolating villages and blocking railways and roads.

Trains between Scotland and Southern England were 14 to 18 hours late, and at some stations it was so cold that beer froze in the pumps.

Troops were called out to reopen traffic arteries in the Thames Valley, where the snowfall was the greatest in 12 years.

Nazis Told Children To Spurn Decalogue

paintings reproduced from the art of the Vatican. Accusingly, she showed her mother a picture of a great Madonna; the Blessed Virgin and the little Christ Child.

"You have no right," she said indignantly, "to keep these pictures in our home. Our Fuehrer teaches us that this is a false fable. At our bund camp, we burn books like these."

To my friend's distress and anger, her little daughter flung the book into the flames of the fireplace. The mother tried to explain to her, gently not only the sacrilege of the act but that what she had destroyed was a work of art; that the Fuehrer himself, in the great museums of Germany, treasured these pictures because of their value and beauty.

DECALOGUE SPURNED

If it had been some years later, she might have told her that the Fuehrer had pilfered just such great pictures from the museums of Holland and France and Belgium, to remove them to his underground treasure houses of art.

The little girl was unconvinced, and unrepentant. Her mother discovered later that she had made her childish report to her camp leader, who in turn had informed the Gestapo. Nothing came of this. Adolf Hitler was not yet prepared to launch a blitzkrieg upon the most valuable art treasures of history.

My husband and I attempted to continue teaching the Catholic faith to our own children at home. It was for the most part a futile effort.

We found that the Nazi leaders of the Bund groups were undermining all spiritual values in the children entrusted to their care. Particularly, they struck at the teachings of peace and brotherhood for which Christ lived and died.

The doctrine of love, our children were told, was the doctrine of a weakling and a coward. "Thou Shalt Not Kill" was the commandment against the very fundamentals of the Third Reich, which only through killing and conquering might achieve rightful rulership over the world.

As for brotherhood — there was no brotherhood outside of the ruling Aryan races, with Germany as leader. All other races were subject and slave races, born to perform humble service for those whom destiny had decreed as leaders. So they taught.

(Hitler's increasing hostility against religion will be described in tomorrow's Boston American.

U. S. TO BANISH ENEMY ALIENS FROM WEST COAST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Exclusion of "alien enemies" from two areas deemed vital to the war effort was ordered, tonight, by Atty.-Gen. Biddle in the first of a series of steps which may soon clear German, Japanese and Italian nationals out of large sectors of California and neighboring states.

Biddle announced that, acting on the first recommendations of many to be made by the War Department, he was ordering citizens of the three countries with whom the United States is at war to leave and remain out of certain portions of San Francisco and Los Angeles. The effective date is Feb. 24.

27 OTHER AREAS

At the same time, he disclosed that 27 additional areas, all less densely populated with enemy aliens, would be designated tomorrow, with numerous additional sectors to be added when the Navy Department's recommendations come through.

WATERFRONT INCLUDED

Biddle said that "several thousand" Germans, Japanese and Italians were in the two areas known to the Army's western defense command as No. 19 and No. 33. Relatively few of those Nationals are in the 27 sectors to be named tomorrow, he added, and therefore they have been ordered to leave by Feb. 15.

The Los Angeles area borders the Pacific Ocean and includes the municipal airport. The San Francisco area covers the waterfront from China Basin to the Presidio.

The exclusion order will be enforced through the enemy alien identification program, which begins in the eight states of the western command on Monday and requires every German, Japanese and Italian to apply for a certificate bearing his picture, fingerprint and signature, which must be carried at all times.

The particular areas will be policed by representatives of the Justice Department with assistance from the Army.

NAZIS FEAR INVASION OF NORWAY

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 30 (AP) — Several sectors of the Norwegian coast have been closed to shipping by German authorities, presumably because of fears of an Allied invasion, Oslo dispatches said today.

The Selbjornsfjord, off Bergen, has been barred to shipping, it was said. Large mine fields were reported to have been laid on the Malangenfjord, in Northern Norway, and the harbor of Hammerfest is said to have been closed.

Beauty

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL—Donna Reed poses during a defense inspection tour in a gabardine slacks suit; and today Arline Gould suggests as a neat touch to your own defense work outfit a new and special pouch to be fastened to the belt, so hands may be free.

SPECIAL COSMETICS POUCH FOR THE DEFENSE WORKER

By ARLINE GOULD

OF COURSE YOU'VE been a woman of action long before defense duties put you through a new series of paces . . . so you long ago learned the little trick of keeping your hands free by anchoring certain necessary possessions on a belt around your middle!

When you gardened, smartly as any professional, you had an apron in which small tools and seed packets or shears went, while you had both hands free to work. When you skiied, you most often carried wax, chocolate, cigarettes and money in a little pack which ran through your belt.

And in response to a genuine demand from the patriots who are mustering forces for defense, a new pouch with a flap which may be snapped over a belt has been brought out by a cosmetic expert!

Perhaps you've seen some of the special blackout bags that open out into three sections, with one large secret pocket for your collection of flawed emeralds and the family diamonds. Well, you won't be able to put any such treasure trove . . . if you have it . . . in this cute little business, though there'll be room in which to tuck your diamond solitaire and gradmother's flower pin of garnets, during the hours you get down to the business of being a nurse's aide.

It's made of crushed calf, which is durable, and comes in shades of navy blue, red, black, shoetan, wine or white . . . and they tell us that its smart utility has already appealed greatly to women air raid wardens and members of the auxiliary motor corps. It certainly would seem to be an excellent thing to have your small impedimenta out of the way when you dashed into the cellar to turn off the water works, or when you needed both arms to help a patient into a motor corps vehicle bound for some headquarters of mercy.

There is a comb in the pouch, and fitting of loose powder compact, rouge compact and lipstick . . . and plenty of room for other little things. It's $5.95.

To learn about this belt pouch for makeup essentials, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

NEWS FOR MODERN WOMEN

• FOOD •

By Martha Lee

HAVE YOU SURVEYED your chin down your own nose at the connoisseurs of food, the "fancy eaters," the epicures, the members of the "aaah, divine!" school? Have you thought a "gourmet" was an objectionable fellow who screamed if the pepper wasn't hand-ground, the wine not chilled to a Fahrenheit? Maybe you've been wrong.

From the gourmet we learn many of the thriftiest tips on making low-cost foods taste better. He (or she) it was who took to popularizing kidneys, who made tripe belle its name. The gourmet it was who invented stew, campaigned for low, slow cooking, mingled flavors in soup, toyed with spices to enhance dullish dishes.

No "whipped-cream-and-a-cherry" didoes will suit a gourmet. He says the flavor must come from within.

To prove the point, examine some of these low-cost dishes made with familiar foods.

SHRIMP CHOWDER

2 No. 1 cans shrimp
¼ cup chopped green pepper
2 tbsp. butter
⅓ cup chopped onion
1 stalk chopped celery (use the tops)
1½ cups water
1 cup cubed potatoes
⅞ tsp. mace
¼ tsp. paprika
¼ tsp. allspice
1½ tsp. pepper
3 cups milk
1½ tsp. salt

Drain shrimp. Saute green pepper in butter until tender, but not brown; remove and saute onion until tender. Cook celery in water until tender. Add green pepper, onion, potatoes and seasonings and simmer slowly for 20 minutes. Scald milk and add with shrimp to vegetables. Cover and cook very slowly for an additional 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

USE LEFTOVER MEAT in Stuffed Onions to replace half the crumbs.

STUFFED ONIONS

6 large mild onions
2 tbsp. butter, melted
1 cup soft bread crumbs
½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. pepper
1 tbsp. minced parsley
2 tsp. lemon juice
½ cup thin cream

Wash and peel onions, and parboil 20 minutes. Drain, remove centers and chop. Combine melted butter, bread crumbs, seasonings, minced parsley, and lemon juice with the chopped onion, and mix well. Fill onions with stuffing. Arrange in greased baking dish, add cream, cover, and bake in moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) 15 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Chopped left-over meat may replace half the bread crumbs. The cream may be omitted, and small pieces of bacon may be put on top of each onion, in which case, bake uncovered.

BEEF AU MARSALA

2 lbs. chuck steak, cut in 2-inch cubes
4 tbsp. flour
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. ginger
⅛ tsp. ground cloves
3 tbsp. shortening
½ cup grapefruit juice
½ cup orange juice
1 cup apple cider
¼ cup brown sugar
1 cup carrot rings

Wipe meat with cloth. Mix flour with seasonings. Dredge meat well with flour-spice mixture. Heat shortening in large skillet or heavy saucepan. Brown meat well on all sides. Mix fruit juices and brown sugar. Pour over meat. Heat to boiling, lower heat, cover tightly and simmer slowly for 1 hour. Add carrot rings and continue to cook slowly for an additional 25 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Fashion

IF THIS BE ERSATZ . . . let's have more like it! Not waiting for a scarcity of imported straws or silks to make the least bit of difference to her, the designer, Madame Pauline, did up some wonderfully glamorous ensembles with such "substitutes" as cellophane straw. This strictly Egyptian-inspiration outfit was made of multi-striped cellophane straw with a large handbag of the same material . . . and the colors are beautiful, with the high brilliance that cellophane gives. A stunning pair for a simple suit.—ANNICE BRINK.

FATTER BRIM ADDS NEW GLAMOUR TO OLD STYLE

By BETTINA BEDWELL

ONE of the leading spring millinery styles is the small-brimmed hat that tilts over the face or slides behind a pompadour.

Milliners have made this kind of hat look very new and more flattering by giving it a much fatter brim, the thickening up process being done by laying on fringes, layers of tulle, flower petals and by making the edges into a thick roll like the Bragaard model sketched.

This is one of the most enchanting of the spring hats with fatter brims. Made of pastel pink tapestry straw, the brim is a thick roll along the edge, the crown small and flat.

For trimming there are two big black velvet roses, set on either side of the crown, with stems in the air.

MRS. ROOSEVELT SAYS: Exclusive

Why the Joneses Won

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

National Woman Director of Civilian Defense

WASHINGTON, THURSDAY—I had a snowy day yesterday and skidded around the Long Island roads, so that I really had some moments of apprehension when my daughter-in-law, Ethel, said: "Perhaps you will be snowed in and we can keep you here." However, I reached my departing train in ample time and was on time for my train connection in New York city and in Philadelphia.

Mr. Ellis Gimbel has given two awards this year, one to go to a Philadelphia woman, and one to be awarded on a national scope. In Philadelphia, they felt that Mrs. William Clothier had done an outstanding job for the community for more than 20 years, as a leader in civic and charitable undertakings, overseas and in this country.

She certainly richly deserves the honor. Though she accepted it modestly, stating that she was but a symbol of those who served on the State Defense Council, it is a well known fact that those who are symbols have much to do with creating the things they symbolize.

THE SECOND AWARD is the national award and is, as a rule, given to an individual, a woman who has stood out nationally in some way. But this year it was given to a family, an outstanding American family doing a job for the nation's defense. By good luck, the family's name is Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Jones and their four children.

So, even in their names they typify the everyday families all over this country, who in greater and lesser degree are doing the same kind of job for the victory of our nation in this war. I hope that their recognition will give a lift to many other families in this country, who, reading about them, will think: "Why, there we stand ourselves, and we are being recognized as essential to the winning of this war."

IT IS NOT just in their names that the Joneses resemble other people. To begin with, they are a farm family. The father runs a dairy farm, the mother has brought up four children and run a big house. Still, she had time to take part in the activities in her community and is a member of the defense council.

The older son is a private in the Army, the two girls and the younger brother are all actually doing things which have a bearing on the war effort.

'Son of Fury' Is Tyrone Power's Best Role to Date

Action Aplenty On Met Screen

"SON OF FURY," starring Tyrone Power with Gene Tierney, George Sanders, Frances Farmer, Roddy McDowall, Elsa Lanchester, Dudley Digges, John Carradine, Kay Johnson and Harry Davenport. Produced for 20th Century-Fox by Darryl F. Zanuck, directed by John Cromwell. Screen play by Philip Dunne based on Edison Marshall's novel, "Benjamin Blake," At the Met.

By PEGGY DOYLE

There have been two things this department could exclude from the digest without any hardship, and we have been Tyrone Power and Margots.

There is no point certainly in naming them except that by a strange coincidence your unpredictable movie reporter was suddenly converted to both of them yesterday within the span of six hours.

Since the cuisine is not in our province, let's skip the snails and take up with our new crush, Tyrone Power, whose performance in the Metropolitan's new screen attraction, "Son of Fury," is his best ever.

There is romance and derring-do that rings a bell.

Playing a villain to Power's reckless, romantic Benjamin Blake is George Sanders, the youth's venal uncle, Sir Arthur Blake, who has branded him illegitimate and robbed him of his inheritance.

There is something so silkily sinister about Sanders' Sir Arthur that you'll have a grand time loathing him. Elsa Lanchester, as a kindly barmaid who risks her life to aid Ben, gives an outstanding performance. Dudley Digges, portraying a famous lawyer whom Ben retains to regain his birthright, is superb.

Another of Hollywood's first character actors, Harry Davenport, adds luster to his gallery of screen portraits as the old gun shop keeper who is Ben's great-hearted grandfather.

Gene Tierney, young Broadway actress whose good diction opens the door to a Hollywood career, doesn't have much opportunity to show it off. She makes love to Ben with her eyes, another thing she does most acceptably.

For a co-feature, there is "Right to Your Heart," with Brenda Joyce and Cobina Wright, Jr.

JOAN LESLIE
'Sergeant York'

'York' Film Hit For Normandie

"Sergeant York," starring Gary Cooper in the role that won him the Academy Award for the year's best performance, is to be seen on the Normandie screen, starting tomorrow.

Inspired by the greatest hero of World War I, "Sergeant York" is a great picture, which tells with simplicity and honesty the life-story of a man who was simple and honest.

No one else could have played York as Cooper has done. As his sweetheart, whom he married when he returned to his plain mountain home after one of the most outstanding ovations ever given a favorite son, Joan Leslie couldn't be better.

Others who rate bows are Walter Brennan, June Lockhart, Margaret Wycherly and Dickie Moore.

Shirley Triumph In 'Kathleen'

By DON WARD

The child grows older, and Little Miss Marker is a sweet little subdeb now. She's Shirley Temple, and with her curls a bit darker and wearing her all of 13 years with adult dignity, she comes back to her millions of fans in "Kathleen" at the Paramount and Fenway.

It will be just the dish for those who have watched Hollywood's wonder child since her baby days. For it's as wholesome as Pollyanna and as clean as a carload of willow whistles. Shirley is a poor little rich girl—and your heart is supposed to ache for her. Herbert Marshall is her pre-occupied dad, who doesn't appreciate what a little darling his motherless daughter is.

When the picture opens our Shirley has old meanie Nella Walker for her governess a-snooping around and making life miserable. Shirley tries to bomb her with birthday bon-bon snappers, and you can't blame her much. Then along comes Papa, wondering what to do with his recalcitrant offspring. He has Gail Patrick in tow, and why Shirley doesn't bomb her, too, you'll never know. She talks baby talk, of all things.

But when Doctor Laraine Day steps into the picture, to practice her psychiatric charms on the little renegade, things begin to happen. Little Miss Cupid is Shirley's role from then on, and if you know your Temple and know you're Hollywood, you'll know how it all comes out.

It's a pretty comeback for the box-office pet, and her fans will go for it.

Miss Laraine is most attractive, and Mr. Marshall's a lucky fellow all around.

Jon Hall Wins Bonus of $10,000

Jon Hall, whose latest screen appearance is in RKO Radio's "The Tuttles of Tahiti," has just learned that his latest picture, "Aloma of the South Seas," has grossed more than two million dollars. Jon gets a $10,000 bonus by a proviso in his Aloma contract. Nice going.

'THE CORSICAN BROTHERS' PROVES TOP HIT FOR DOUG FAIRBANKS, JR.

Chip Off Old Swashbuckler

"THE CORSICAN BROTHERS," starring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., with Ruth Warrick and Akim Tamiroff in the Edward Small production of the Alexander Dumas classic. Directed by Gregory Ratoff from George Bruce's script based on his and Howard Estabrook's adaptation. At Loew's two theaters.

By PEGGY DOYLE

Until "The Corsican Brothers," the Dumas adventure romance now showing on Loew's State and Orpheum screens, there was never anyone even remotely equipped to step into the seven-league boots of the bouncing, vital Douglas Fairbanks, Sr.

That is, there was no one until young Doug . . . his goodwill junket through South America terminated . . . returned to Hollywood to go before the cameras in the dual title role of Dumas' wild adventure yarn.

At yesterday's initial showing of the lavish United Artists' release, it was patent that Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is a chip off the old swashbuckler. True, the son has not the wild, breezy abandon of the father that made the latter an ambassador of good cheer where and whenever he paused briefly in his insouciant, unofficial world-meanderings.

There is gorgeous and gory brawling throughout the unreeling, one of the most effective such sequences occurring on location 50 miles distant from Hollywood and called Sherwood Forest ever since the senior Fairbanks chose it as the spot for filming possibly his greatest hit, "Robin Hood."

To refresh the memories of some of you, this particular tall tale of Dumas' concerns the Siamese twin sons of the Count and Countess Franchi and Baron Colonna, blood enemy of the Franchis, who planned to end the vendetta by wiping out the whole Franchi family. The parents are slain, but the twins are hidden in the home of friends. The Franchis' family physician successfully severs the bond of flesh that joins them. The twins, grown to handsome manhood, are as different as their individual environments.

The ill-starred Lucien, reared in a forest by his father's faithful servant, becomes a bandit leader. Mario has become a man of the world in the home of the cultured Dupres. Lucien's tragedy is that, even before he knows he is a twin, he clairvoyantly participates in his brother's more romantic existence.

As the feuding Corsican twain and the blackguard Baron Colonna, the debonair Fairbanks and the chunky, competent Akim Tamiroff are ingratiating, arresting adversaries.

Lovely, brunette Ruth Warrick, beloved of both brothers, is gentle, charming and nicely in period.

The co-feature, "Blondie Goes to College," presents Penny Singleton in another adventure based on Chic Young's popular Boston American comic.

Siamese Twins Coming to Globe

The Hilton Sisters, famed Siamese twins, are to be the highlight of the Globe's regular Sunday 1-to-11 p. m. vaudeville program.

Other acts on the Sunday variety bill are the Six Zopte-Zawattas, aerialists; Walter Green, who offers novelty routines; St. Clair and Durant, acrobatic marvels; the Three Georgia Crackers, comedy singers, and Danny Dennis, vocalist.

The film attractions will be "Swanee River," with Don Ameche, Andrea Leeds and Al Jolson, and "News Is Made at Midnight."

Meal Tax Hits Democrats

When Massachusetts Democrats gather on Washington's Birthday to enjoy a $25-a-plate dinner in order to raise $15,000 to help meet the current Democratic national committee deficit, they'll have to pay the 5 per cent meal tax.

This was the ruling of Tax Commr. Henry F. Long, who hastened to add that the tax will not cover the entire price of $25 unless the diners actually devour that amount of food.

"If they eat $5 worth and give the other $20 to the national committee fund, we will only tax them 15 cents, 5 per cent of the $3," Commr. Long explained.

How These Calamity Stories Do Spread!

Motor Vehicle Registrar Frank A. Goodwin today declared there was "absolutely no truth" to a rumor that registration of automobiles will be stopped in Massachusetts after Feb. 1.

The registry office was flooded with calls after a story was circulated that no plates would be issued after tomorrow. Registrar Goodwin said the false rumor may have been started because on and after Feb. 1 all automobiles must carry federal tax stamps.

Treatment for Influenza As Winter Tightens Grip

Causes, symptoms and treatment of influenza are told in complete detail in the new issue of Good Housekeeping to acquaint the general public with effective means of combating the insidious ally of winter.

Foremost men of medicine have combined their knowledge of influenza in preparation of charts on the disease, which will appear in Good Housekeeping.

Jane Pearson, outstanding beauty authority, tells milady how to overcome the ravages of winter on feminine beauty in another interesting article in the February issue.

How to attain correct posture is told by Adele G. Columbia, head of the Charm Club at Port Washington (N. Y.) Junior High School. She tells of the lessons in good posture and clean living given the girls and the amazing results.

The surprising real names of many of filmdom's top stars are revealed in an engrossing article by Mary Hamman in the current issue. It will startle many to learn the given names of their favorites.

Fashion hints, tempting recipes, tips on easing household duties and many other features of interest to women are also offered.

Send Help To M'Arthur, Baer's Plea

—By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER—

Distributed by International News Service

Every time I pick up a newspaper I'm hoping to read that troops have reached MacArthur. They're going other places but Mac seems to have been written off the books like a cancelled obligation.

He is sticking like fuzz to blue serge but he needs help. Get it to him if we have to wade.

Are we going to present history with a necklace of Pearl Harbors?

MacArthur spent his sixty-second birthday fighting for his sixty-third. That's the one I want to congratulate him on.

LAFF-A-DAY

I KNEW YOU'D COME BACK WITH THEM,! OH — YOU DON'T KNOW HOW GOOD IT IS TO SEE YOU AGAIN!
THANKS, RITA. YOU HELPED ME OUT OF A TIGHT SPOT. I'LL NEVER FORGET YOU.
I DON'T WANT YOU TO,! I MEAN, I'M SORT OF FOOTLOOSE, AND I KNOW THIS ISN'T LEAP YEAR, BUT-- I'M SORRY, RITA.
IS IT-- ANOTHER GIRL?
YES. AND NOW GOODBYE. IF YOU EVER NEED HELP, LET ME KNOW.
WHY IS IT--THAT THE MEN YOU DON'T WANT ARE A DIME A DOZEN-- AND THE ONE YOU DO WANT--ALWAYS HAS ANOTHER GIRL---?

PINE TREES ARE LIKE KIDS ?? WHAT'S THAT, A RIDDLE?
1-30
I GUESS IT'S A KIND OF A RIDDLE -- YOU KNOW KIDS GO TO SCHOOL TO LEARN HOW TO GROW SMART.... PINE TREES GO TO A SCHOOL IN A HOTHOUSE TO LEARN HOW TO GROW TALL ----
IF THE LITTLE KIDS AN' THE LITTLE TREES DO WHAT THEY OUGHTA DO, THEY'RE MOVED INTO A HIGHER CLASS -- THEN, WHEN THEY'RE FINISHED IN SCHOOL THEY'VE GROWN BIG AN' STRONG AN' ABLE TO TAKE CARE OF THEMSELVES ----
I GUESS THAT'S WHY MR. OLIVER SEZ WE GOTTA BE TERRIBLE CAREFUL TO SEE EACH YOUNG ONE GROWS UP STRAIGHT AN' STRONG -- 'CAUSE IF THEY'RE CROOKED, THEY'LL NEVER AMOUNT TO MUCH WHEN THEY'RE GROWN UP

Sports Equipment Show a Hit

WALTER BROWN of the Garden believes there should be more sports promotions to secure funds with which to purchase athletic equipment for soldiers and sailors stationed in New England. Brown declared he thought the Baseball Writers' Ass'n made a move in the right direction when it turned over the profits of its annual dinner to a fund to be used to buy baseball equipment for Camp Edwards and Ft. Devens.

Active competition in sports is one of the best ways to improve the physical condition of the service men and also to benefit their morale. Now that the baseball writers have taken the lead I look for other sports organizations to join in the movement to secure sports equipment for service groups.

The New England A. A. U. has pledged its full support to boxing programs in the camps. Gene Driscoll, chairman of the boxing committee of the New England A. A. U., recently staged a successful tournament at Fort Devens. He is planning a similar tournament for Camp Edwards.

The new athletic building at Camp Edwards will be ready by Feb. 15. It will then be possible to stage indoor athletic events. Boxing and basketball will be among the featured sports.

Conn Lacks Punch

If Billy Conn is to win from Joe Louis when they meet next June, he must do so by his boxing skill rather than as a result of punching power. As Conn outscored Jay Turner of Dallas, Texas in St. Louis, it was once more evident that Conn at 183 pounds lacks the wallop to knock over big heavyweights.

Conn hit the 227½ pound Turner at will, but could not knock him out.

Conn would do much better against Louis if he restricted his efforts to boxing and did not try for a knockout. Last June Conn could have won the heavyweight title if he had not unwisely tried to knock Louis out in the thirteenth round. At the time Conn had a slight lead on points and if he had boxed Louis instead of trying to outpunch him he would have left the ring champion.

Conn weighed eight pounds more for Turner than he did for Louis. It's a question, though, whether Conn will be able to retain his extra weight when he goes through a hard training siege such as he will have to do for his meeting with Louis. Conn looks to me as if he will experience trouble packing on solid weight above 175 pounds.

Conn will have two or three more tune-up bouts before his June tussle with Louis.

Louis will be kept in the New York army area until after his bout with Conn. One of the Army funds will share in the receipts of the Louis-Conn bout, which is certain to draw a $1,000,000 gate.

Random Shots at Target

Jack FitzGerald, publicity director at Tropical Park, writes that no state other than Florida could operate racing successfully with a 15 per cent take.

"The fact there are so many tourists in Florida makes it possible for Tropical Park and Hialeah Park to make money despite the 15 per cent take," writes FitzGerald. "The average tourist only remains in Florida for 10 days, and as a result there is plenty of fresh money coming into the state. New England or New York could not stand such a sock."

Dave Wilson writes from Miami that the naming of Dave Alexander as assistant to Billy Ames at Narragansett Park is only one of several changes that will be made in the publicity staffs of New England race tracks. Two members of the publicity staff at Suffolk Downs, Dave says, have been told their services will not be needed this coming season.

There is also talk that there will be one new association steward at Suffolk Downs and several important changes in the mutuel department.

Dave Alexander, who will write turf articles for Narragansett Park, was doing the publicity for Bay Meadows in California until racing was closed in California. Dave has a background as a sports writers on one of the racing sheets and is considered one of the better turf writers.

Floyd Bell is doing the publicity for Sheldon Fairbanks' New England Sportsmen's and Boat Show that opens at Mechanics Building on Feb. 7 and continues for eight days. Bell is in New York today to attend the Eastern Figure Skating championships at Iceland, which is part of Madison Square Garden.

'Krauts' Play Once More Before Army Induction

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—Showing surprising strength without the services of their "Kraut" line, the undermanned Boston Bruins today headed for Toronto for tomorrow's game with the Maple Leafs after dropping a close decision to the Brooklyn Americans.

Manager Art Ross admittedly has a headache in producing three more forwards to replace the "Krauts"—Schmidt, Dumart and Bauer—who will be in the Royal Canadian Air Force by the middle of next week.

He could take plenty of consolation, however, from the showing of Bill Hollett, the veteran handy man who stepped into a forward line with Herb Cain and "Dutch" Hiller and made their front wall look like the class of the evening at Madison Square Garden.

It looks as though Boston has definitely seen the last of the "Krauts" for the duration of the war. Bauer will be a radio mechanic, Schmidt a physical instructor, and Dumart a clerk accountant in the RCAF.

REPORT TUESDAY

The trio passed physical examinations in Montreal with the expected flying colors and flew to Boston to straighten out their affairs before entering the service.

Schmidt and Dumart are under orders to report for duty in Montreal Tuesday and Bauer must report the following day in Toronto.

It seems likely they will all don uniforms for a farewell to the Maple Leafs tomorrow night, but for Sunday's game in Boston only Bauer and Dumart will be available, Schmidt planning to remain in Canada.

The big question is who Art Ross plans to use as substitutes, and this will probably be undecided until the team returns to Boston for the Sunday night contest.

But for all the changes in the wind, it was a fighting and strong Bruin aggregation that battled the Brooklyns all over Madison Square Garden before dropping a 5-4 decision.

The first period ended with the score tied at one-all, Cain's tally in the 19th minute matching Tommy Anderson's neat tally at 2:28. The Brooks ran up three tallies in 12 minutes of the second session, to make it 4 to 1, Mosdell, Boll and Hill tallying.

BOLL SCORES CLINCHER

Hollett drew the visitors up a peg at 16:51 but their chances were nipped just as they had the locals under pressure when Desse Smith was jugged for the only penalty of the game with less than a minute remaining.

Smith was still in the jug as the third period got under way. The A's attacked raggedly and Art Jackson and Cain broke out of their own end, the first named converting a pass from the boards after 55 seconds of play. The visitors tied things up for a second time at 3:10 when Eddie Wiseman took Frankie Mario's pass on a face-off in the Amerk end and drew Rayner down to flip the disc in an empty cage.

Two minutes later Mel Hill, an old Bruin himself, tossed a pass from the boards to "Buzz" Boll standing unguarded near the Bruin cage and all the Buzzer had to do was to send it home.

GOWDY BRINGS '17 ECHO TO N. Y. WRITERS' FETE

NEW YORK, Jan. 30—An echo of the drums of 1917 will be heard here Sunday night when Hank Gowdy speaks at the 19th annual dinner and show of the New York Chapter, Baseball Writers' Ass'n of America.

Hank was the first big leaguer to vounteer in 1917. He wore an Army uniform for 23 months, of which he spent 18 months with the American Expeditionary Force in France.

GIVEN HONOR SEAT

He began and ended his active big league career with the Giants and for several years now has served as Bill McKechnie's head coach and chief lieutenant with the Boston Braves and Cincinnati Reds.

This is a war year and there will be service touches to the writers' show and to the speaking program.

The scribes thought it only fitting that "Old Goldenrod" be honored with an invitation to sit on the dais alongside Hank Greenberg, Mell Ott and Joe DiMaggio.

The years have mellowed Hankus-Pankus, but he still radiates a warm personality and makes a good talk.

LAUDED AS FIGHTER

Gowdy, now in his early fifties, was 27 years old when he enlisted on June 3, 1917, in the Fourth Ohio Infantry at Columbus, his home town. This outfit later was the One Hundred and Sixty-sixth Infantry of the Rainbow Division.

Gowdy was junior color sergeant for the headquarters company in this regiment. He as wconsiderable service at the front.

When he returned from France and disembarked in New York, his commanding officer, Col. B. W. Hough, said:

"Hank was one great fighter when it came to tossing bombs. He still has a great arm."

Lindstrom Gets Giant Farm Job

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (AP)—Bill Terry, general manager of the New York Giants' farm system, announced today that Freddie Lindstrom, his roommate of many playing days in years past, would manage the Giants' Western Ass'n farm team at Fort Smith, Ark., during the 1942 season.

Lindstrom, manager of the Knoxville, Tenn., Smokies in the Southern Ass'n last year, becomes the second ex-giant to receive a managerial assignment in Terry's revamped farm setup this week. His appointment follows by two days that of Frank (Pancho) Snyder at Jersey City.

Madame Bey Dies in Jersey

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Jan. 30 (AP)—Madame Hranoush Bey, who for more than two decades mothered topflight boxers at her training camp in Chatham township, died today in All Soul's Hospital of a heart ailment.

She had been ill about six months.

Mme. Bey was 59 or 60 yeras old, a son said She came from Constantinople in 1898, the bride of Sidky Bey, Turkish diplomat to Washington. She danced at the White House and sang in Carnegie Hall.

Then came the World War and her husband resigned rather than accept a transfer to Berlin.

The Beys left the gay Washington social whirl to try farming. That failed, so they accepted an offer to take over the health farm.

Madame Bey knew nothing about boxers or cooking, but she studied both, and the training camp business flourished.

Among her alumni were Max Schmeling, Freddie Steele, Tommy Farr, Paul Berlenbach, Primo Carnera, Lou Ambers and Gene Tunney, whom she called her "polished emerald."

Cochrane Joins Tunney's Staff

DETROIT, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Free Press said Mickey Cochrane, former catcher and manager of the Detroit Tigers, has been accepted for service as a lieutenant in the United States Navy under Lieut.-Commdr. Gene Tunney.

Cochrane, who led the Tigers to the American League pennant in 1934 and the world championship a year later, applied for service in the Navy's health-training program some time ago.

The paper said it had learned Cochrane would be called into service soon.

Hoppe Named 'Most Courageous Athlete of 1941'

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30 (AP) — Willie Hoppe, world three-cushion billiard champion, was named the "most courageous athlete of 1941" at the 38th annual banquet of the Philadelphia Sporting Writers Ass'n.

Nearly 1000 guests cheered the perrenial titleholder as he accepted the plaque.

Capt. Colin P. Kelly, Jr., Army aviator who gave his life to sink a Japanese battleship during the early days of the war, was honored posthumously when the writers voted a special association "Award for Valor" in his name.

The New York Yankee's Joe DiMaggio received the association's award for the outstanding athlete of 1941.

Toastmaster Cy Peterman of the Inquirer announced Hoppe was chosen for the top award for his achievement in fighting off an attack of pneumonia during the 1941 world's championship tournament and going on to win the title.

Col. John Thomas Taylor, representing the United States Army Public Relations Office, accepted the award for valor in Kelly's name.

A roar of applause swept through the banquet room as DiMaggio stepped up to receive his plaque.

Sports stars by the dozens and officers of all branches of the armed forces attended.

Among those introduced were Brig.-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, national director of Selective Service; Maj. Emory (Swede) Larson, recently transferred coach of the Navy football team; Pvt. Hugh Mulcahy, former Phillie pitcher, who was the first major league ball player to be inducted into the Army; Connie Mack, the Athletics' leader, and John B. Kelly, national director of the physical fitness campaign.

Free-for-All As Leafs Win

TORONTO, Jan. 30 (AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs strengthened their hold on third place in the National Hockey League by beating Montreal's last-place Canadiens, 7-3, in a wild rough game featured by a free-for-all fight in the third period.

To add to the confusion, there was a power failure just after the brawl started and the automatic timing equipment failed to work.

Peter Morin, Gerry Heffernan and Ken Reardon were penalized for the Canadiens' part in the brawl and Sweeney Schriner and Lorne Carr drew rests for the Leafs.

Easy Game For Melrose

The Greater Boston hockey loop wades into its eighth weekly session at the Boston Arena this evening with its usual quota of four games.

League leading Melrose tangles with lowly Newton in the first game, beginning at 7 o'clock. Second place Rindge Tech squares off with Cambridge Latin in the second engagement. In the remaining games Medford battles Stoneham and Arlington tackles Belmont.

Melrose should have but little difficulty with Newton. The Big Red have compiled a nifty record of seven wins against no defeats. Three of these verdicts were against Inter-League foes.

Newton, sporting one victory and a tie in four games, has shown little or nothing.

UPSET MEDFORD

Rindge, the only team in the league with sufficient class to approach Melrose, will not have too difficult an assignment in Cambridge Latin. The Rindge has lost only to Medford. And that was in an early season game before the team got rolling as a unit.

The Medford-Stoneham duel shapes up with the best of them. Medford met with disaster at the hands of Belmont last week, but will be back in the running in true Mustang style. These teams are now deadlocked for third place, so both will go all out to win.

Belmont will be seeking its second win in as many games when it squares off with Arlington. Belmont with Ray McInnes, Phil Steadfast and Bill Dewire starring pulled the greatest upset of the schoolboy season when it downed Medford last week. And as a result are listed as slight favorites to repeat against Arlington.

First game starts at 7 p. m.

All Riddles But One On High School Five

GREENVILLE, S. C., Jan. 30 (AP) — The Greenville High School basketball team is almost a complete riddle.

Four Riddles and one Phillips make up the first team and none is farther removed than first cousin in kinship.

There are Furman Riddle, Leonard Riddle and Junior Riddle, brothers, and Coley Riddle and Jack Phillips, first cousin of the first three. Just one big happy family, says Coach Slick Moore.

CABRAL FAVORED OVER YOUNG

Garvey "Lefty" Young, the battling U. S. Marine, meets Fred Cabral, Cambridge, and Abe Denner, West End, N. E. featherweight champ, squares off with Lefty LaChance, Portland, Me., in the 10-round main bouts of the Boston Boxing Ass'n show tonight at Mechanics Building.

Cabral and Denner, a pair of the best boxers produced in this neighborhood in years, are favorites but no one will be surprised if Young and LaChance come through winners.

Young has already scored a win over Cabral, running his unbeaten string to 27 straight in so doing. It was a narrow win, however, over the 8-round distance and many of the fans felt that Cabral was entitled to nothing less than a draw.

The experts figure Cabral, who appears the stronger of the pair, will get the decision and revenge on Young over the 10-round route. But the Marine has pulled a number of surprise in his rapid rise to the top and may turn in another. He's the All-Service welterweight champion, whose home is in Akron, Ohio, and who is now stationed at Charlestown.

Denner, returning after many successes in N. Y. and Philly, runs into a tough party in LaChance. LaChance, who has two sparkling fights here with Jackie Harris, is featherweight champion of Maine. If he beats Denner he'll be given a shot at the sectional crown.

In six-rounders Larry Pacino, Roxbury, will fight Eddie Bangs of Cambridge and Young Byron, Roxbury, will meet Danny Nabrega, New Bedford.

The fours will be Johnny Daley, Newton, vs. Al Bojack, Fall River, and Joe O'Donnell, Everett, vs. Red Overlaw, Lewiston.

Pacino and Daley have won all their bouts since turning professional with Pacino rated the foremost young prospect in New England.

ALL-AMERICA champion of other years, Larry Pacino, above, continues to wade through professional ranks and hopes to add Eddie Bangs to his string tonight at Mechanics Building. Garvey Young, U. S. Olympics Open 3-Game Trip In New Jersey

The Boston Olympics open a three-game road trip tonight, when they meet the Atlantic City Sea Gulls at Convention Hall in New Jersey.

They have a get-together scheduled with the Skeeters in River Vale on Saturday evening, and a return game with their recent conquerors, New York Rovers, at Madison Square Garden on Sunday afternon.

Next Olympic home game will be played at the Garden on Wednesday evening with the Sea Gulls. Next Wednesday's tilt will mark the first time the Atlantic City club has played in Boston since the first two games of the season back in November.

Harrington will have a strong squad at the Resort City tonight. Only missing face will be that of Eddie Barry, who will join the team on Saturday. Barry is still nursing an injured hand sustained in the River Vale game two weeks ago. If Barry can possibly play he will be in there against the River Vale team.

Those making the trip are Vic Polich, Ty Andersen, Al Yourkewicz, Clare Martin, Al Baranowski, Ray Chaisson, Fishy Dumond, Lloyd Gronsdal, Jake Wade, Jack McGill, Gerry Desrosiers, Eddie Barry, Johnnie Fitzgerald, Cy Beigler, Bill Linskey and Coach Hago Harrington.

Zeller Advocates Enforcing Rules to Speed Up Game

DETROIT, Jan. 30 (AP)—If baseball is to be fitted to a wartime pattern, General Manager Jack Zeller of the Detroit Tigers thinks streamlining of the battle of home plate would be a notable contribution.

Zeller has in mind the countless individual battles between pitchers and batters in the course of a major league season. By various time-consuming methods this endless feud has become primarily a war of nerves, and Zeller wonders if it isn't the customer who is greatly irritated.

"There's no reason why major league games should consume two or perhaps even three hours," said Zeller today as he prepared to leave for the special league meeting at New York for consideration of the game's war course.

"In addition to having less time for baseball, the customers won't have the patience to sit out an exhibition of stalling by batter and pitcher," Zellar declared. "I think it's time to enforce the rules against delaying the game."

WOULD SPEED UP GAME

The rules specify that a balk may be called against the pitcher if he consumes more than 20 seconds under normal circumstances in delivering the pitch. There are various penalties for batsmen who fail to stick to business at the plate.

With league presidents instructing their umpires to give strict interpretation to the code, Zeller believes games may be curtailed to 90 minutes or perhaps an hour and three-quarters. Then afternoon fans would get home to warm dinners and operators of night ball would conserve the power supply.

Perhaps Zeller's renewed ardor for less waste motion in baseball arises from his recent suggestion that the Detroit club try twilight ball to permit day shift workers to attend games.

FEAR JOCKEYS

"Twilight ball?" several fans chorused. "Why, that's what you had last year with a midafternoon starting time."

Zeller believes that twilight ball, however, will change the players' notions on importance of the time element in baseball.

"Why, if the umpires tried to speed up the games in the past," he declared, "the dugout jockeys would complain, 'What's the matter, umps, got a heavy date?'"

CROVO'S PLAY STANDS OUT ON B. C. SEXTET

Boston College's undefeated hockey squad will depend greatly on sophomores when it plays Dartmouth Monday night at the Garden.

Harry Crovo, a six foot, 175 pounder, is the best of a quartet of sophomores who aided greatly in the Eagles' six straight wins this season. Goalie Phil Carey, Johnny "Putto" Murphy adn Jim "Toothy" Edgeworth are the others.

Crovo is a real example of perseverance. He hails from Woburn—so he played no high school hockey as Woburn isn't represented in any of the schoolboy leagues.

Following his days at Woburn High, he enrolled at Hebron Academy. That's the school that turned out, among others, Bob Mee, Cliff Thompson, Starr Owen, Ray Chaisson, Phil Bessone, Will Riley and Bill Harrison.

Riley and Harrison, who form two-thirds of Dartmouth's present "Bomber Line" which has been burning up collegiate rinks this season, were teammates of Crovo at Hebron. That won't stop Harry from handing out some of his patented body checks when they clash at the Garden.

Crovo started the season paired with Linden "Lindy" Blanchard, rugged football guard. But "Lindy" joined Uncle Sam's Air Corps following the Boston University game.

Against Colby Crovo was teamed with Alex Skene, rough and ready junior letterman from Newton. They made an ideal defense. But Crovo's talents doesn't remain just in the defense zone. He can take the puck up the ice with the best. He's already being compared with Bob Mee, Arlington boy, who is coaching the frosh squad. Mee was considered the acme of Eagle defensemen.

Top Weight for Minee-Mo

McCreary leads the veteran riders with 12 winners, although Basil James is pushing him with 11, most of which were scored during Conn's absence.

Warren Mehrtens, who is under contract to Max Hirsch, is pacing the jockeys in the apprentice division with nine winners, two more than the erstwhile leader, Willie Day. Each scored one triumph yesterday.

HERMAN SIGNS FOR $18,000 WITH DODGERS

BROOKLYN, Jan. 20 (AP)—Billy Herman, streamlined by eight pounds during the winter, but still looking plump, has recovered from the back injury that took him out of the World Series and is ready to resume at second base for the Brooklyn Dodgers any time—and any place.

The 32-year-old star infielder arrived from his home at New Albany, Ind., and in a short confab with President Larry MacPhail, signed a new contract.

He was the first player to take advantage of the club's invitation to some of the higher salaried Dodgers to come to Brooklyn to discuss salary terms and he was believed to have signed for approximately $18 000, the same as he received last year.

"I did about as well as I expected," hec ommented.

"I weigh 188 pounds with my clothes on and feel fine. My back is perfectly all right. It gave me a little trouble for a few weeks after the series, but up till the middle of December I did a lot of hunting and walking and worked the trouble out.

"Since then I've been doing a lot of ice skating and playing basketball around home."

Herman twisted his back in the fourth game of the World Series and his absence from the lineup in the last game gave the Dodgers an added handicap in their final stand against the Yankees.

Phelan Lauds Successor

CHICAGO, Jan. 30 (AP)—Jimmy Phelan, former head football coach at the University of Washington, today voiced his approval of selection of Ralph "Pest" Welch as his successor.

"The guy is the salt of the earth," Phelan said.

"Sixteen years with Phelan should make him smart."

Phelan predicted the 35-year-old former Purdue halfback, Phelan's assistant for 12 years, would make good in a big way. He played four years under Phelan at Purdue.

Pastor May Steal Lesnevich's Title

What's on your mind?

Boxing?—Ever look at a guy and say to yourself, "Nothing but hard luck could possibly happen to a bloke like that?"

That's Gus Lesnevich: The light-heavyweight champ, who fights Bob Pastor tonight for a crack at Joe Louis' title, still has the apologetic unctiousness of a ham and egger.

His title suggests that he's the best 175-pound fist fighter in the world. But his pocketbook, his seamy air and the awful breaks he gets yell loudly that he's just another unlucky stiff. He's the kind of guy whose first name is usually preceded by the adjective poor.

A few years ago, when life came back into the 175-pound division, and there was a buck or two to be made after the long drouth, Lesnevich was in Australia, and not doing too well, either. He came back just in time to meet Billy Conn after Billy got good. And he took a beating in a poorly attended fight. But in his plodding way he put up a good enough battle to warrant a rematch.

The rematch was scheduled for Miami. Conn came down with boils. Then it was scheduled for Detroit. Driving into Detroit with borrowed dough, in a borrowed car, Lesnevich heard on his borrowed car radio that the fight had been called off again.

After that he was in a car accident that killed one of the passengers and took what little dough he and his stout but not very stylish manager, Lew Diamond, could scrape together. Conn licked him finally in a fight that didn't draw even the deadheads. In his next two fights, poor Gus cracked up his hands so badly he was in dry dock for eight months. He came back to beat Tami Mauriello in a match that made him the 175-pound champ. But even this, his great moment, had its drawbacks.

A torrential downpour kept the customers away in droves, and he hardly made expenses. And when Harry Balogh lingered fondly over the final announcement, like a man rolling a good cognac over his tongue, the crowd thought Mauriello was the "winnah and neoyew champiyun." When it turned out to be poor Gus, they booed him dizzy.

Now, as he tries to branch out into the heavyweight division, where the dough is, he runs into a nasty little snarl which may see his title sorely tarnished if he loses, even though the title isn't at stake tonight. For Pastor is threatening to come in against him light enough so that he can put a verbal claim on Gus' ersatz crown if he wins. You think you've got troubles?

Texans' Good Show

Basketball?—Gigantic West Texas State's defeat at the hands of Long Island University on Wednesday night produced as thrilling a sports event as a fellow could hope to see. The score, 58-56, the fact that there was an extra period and the fact that the winning basket was scored spectacularly with three seconds left of that extra period, gives you a hint as to the hectic goings-on at the jammed Garden.

Ned Irish's biggest crowd of the season, 18,117, sat in on the terrific contest, and in the perpetual din it was difficult to distinguish between the piercing yips of the undergrads and the hoarse squawks of the pasty-faced Broadway gamblers who have suddenly and generously granted this 50-year-old American game their patronage.

Texas lost, presumably to the better club. But we'd go to see those elongated Southwesterners every night in the week. Their incredible size alone is a lure, but it tells only a portion of their story.

Coach Al Baggett knows how to make nimble ball-handlers and runners out of his giants. Charley Halbert, 6-foot-10 inches of man from House, N. M., is the best big man we've ever seen on a court. Next year he'll have a 6-foot-10 teammate, now a freshman, and if he's still around the year after that, Baggett tells us, he'll have a 6-foot-11 teammate. Baggett's got this 6-foot-11 incher properly branded and put out to pasture (where no other college can find him) somewhere in the Panhandle.

Florida Tracks Well Fed

Racing?—Jack Fitzgerald, veteran racing authority, writes from Florida that the season there has been "unbelievably good," though hotels, night clubs and business concerns down there are wringing their hands in anguish. Business is supposed to be off from 20 per cent to 30 per cent—but more sugar is being fed into the hungry maw of the Hialeah "tote." Maybe there's a connection there.

Market Wise has burned up a lot of favorite players' money in his first two 1942 starts. But he's coming along, Fitz says, and shapes up as the early choice for the $50,000 Widener. War Relic, another conqueror of Whirlaway, isn't far behind Market Wise in training. Challedon and Pictor haven't looked like much, and not too much is expected of Mioland and Porter's Cap, except by Charley Howard, who shipped them across the country from Santa Anita the day he learned there was no hope of opening that California showplace (but few wins) this season.

Fitz rates Alsab and Bless Me as doubtful starters in the Flamingo. Al Sabath has his heart set on winning the Derby, and wants to take no chances with his $700 wonder horse. Col. Bradley's colt is a little on the lame side.

GIANTS BUY INFIELDER

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 30 (AP)—The New York Giants have decided to take up their option to buy Connie Ryan, young Atlanta second baseman, President Earl Mann of the Atlanta Crackers announced today. It is to be a straight cash deal.

STAMPEDED—Howie Rader of Long Island University is caught between two West Texas State Buffaloes, Bill Stockman (31) and Frank Stockman, at Madison Square Garden. The Texans, tallest basketball team in the land, were defeated, 58-56.

Hub Boy Illini Coach; Campus Hails Ray Eliot

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Jan. 30 (AP)—In vast Memorial Stadium, built during the pre-Grange era of Bob Zuppke-coached Illini football teams, a Zuppke pupil named Ray Eliot from Brighton, Mass., will direct the University of Illinois gridders next fall.

Just 6 years old when Zuppke began his 29-season reign here in 1913, Eliot held the position of line coach when his appointment was announced yesterday.

CAMPUS ELATED

There was elation on the campus at the sudden announcement, for it presumably meant the end of a four-year period of athletic wrangling.

There was excitement, too, in the Eliot household where the new head coach told his wife and daughter of his appointment, which he termed "the greatest thing that ever happened to me."

In some corners both Illini and non-Illini inquired: "Who's Eliot?"

Part of the explanation for his relative obscurity is the fact he went through school as Ray Nusspickel.

STARRED DESPITE GLASSES

the Ray Nusspickel, who, despite the handicap of glasses, played on the football teams of 1930 and 1931 and was a catcher on the baseball team.

Eliot has been intensely popular with members of the football team, who hailed the announcement wiht a spontaneous celebration in George Huff gymnasium. On several occasions players had demanded bluntly that the athletic board elevate the line coach, who served at Illinois College for five years before he came here in September, 1937.

Pastor Favored Over Lesnevich

NEW YORK, Jan. 30 (INS)—Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich was rated a 7 to 5 underdog today for his excursion into the heavyweight ranks in a 10-rounder against Bob Pastor at Madison Square Garden tonight.

It has been reported that Lesnevitch, should he win, will be offered a championship bout with Joe Louis in a benefit card at the Garden on March 27.

Most local ringsiders, however, were of the opinion the light-heavyweight king will be running into tough competition when he takes on Pastor. Gus is rated a rough and tough man in his class, but Pastor is given the edge by the so-called "wise" boys of the profession by reason of his better ring generalship.

Boxing Results

ELIZABETH, N. J.—Artie Levine, 145, Brooklyn, N. Y., knocked out Sammy Mancuso, 145, Jersey City, 2. Danny Cox, 179, New York, floored Billy Harris, 180, Syracuse, N. Y., 3.

FALL RIVER—Eddie Ellis, 148, Quincy, won a decision over Pete Mascarnera, 153, New York City, 8. Al "Red" Priest, 153, Cambridge, was awarded the decision over Oscar Suggs, 150, Newport, R. I., 6.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 29 (AP)—Joey Haddad, 144, Paterson, won decision over Mickey Makar, 146, Bayonne, 8.

BURLINGTON, Vt., — Buster Beaupre, 139, won a decision over Frankie Conti, 135½, Haverhill, 10. Francky Marc, 136, Barre, won the award over Frankie Taylor, 138, Fort Ethan Allen, 6.

Turf Aristocrats Prance for War Benefit at Hialeah

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 30 (AP)—The Aristocrats of the American turf, 14 sleek thoroughbreds with total winnings of $1,500,000 pranced before thousands at Hialeah Park this afternoon as their contribution to a war benefit day program.

The country's "name horses"—Challedon, Mioland, Our Boots, Alsab and the rest—took part in a parade of stars designed to stimulate attendance on a day when all proceeds will be given to war relief societies and other charitable organizations.

They promenaded just before the running of the $2000 President's Birthday Handicap, and horsemen here consider the procession a preview of such major Hialeah stakes as the $50,000 Widener, the $25,000 Flamingo and the $10,000 McLennan.

The track will divide all its profits for the day equally among the American Red Cross, the Army Relief Society, the Navy Relief Society and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

W. L. Brann's big bay, Challedon, tops the group in money winnings with $322,235. Charles S. Howard's Mioland is second with $224,450 and the Woodvale Farm's Our Boots third with $115,182.

Five of the more prominent Flamingo and Kentucky Derby eligibles, led by Mrs. Al Sabath's sensational Alsab, were in the turf star parade.

Alsab, winner of $110,600 and the 1941 juvenile champion, likely will get another look at his leading rival, E. F. Whitaker's Requested.

The other star three-year-olds are the Greentree Stable's Devil Diver ($65,339); Manhasset Stable's Amphitheater ($23,375), and Bless Me, pride of Col. E. R. Bradley's Idle Hour Farm, winner of four out of six starts and $5285 as a two-year-old.

FITCHBURG GIRL DEFENDS SKATE TITLE

LA CROSSE, Wis., Jan. 30 (AP)—Ken Bartholomew and Carmelita Landry, defending title holders and favorites, headed a record field of speed skaters who worked out today over a soft and slushy ice track for the national championships which start tomorrow.

Bartholomew, the lean and lanky kid from Minneapolis, and Miss Landry, diminutive entry from Fitchburg, Mass., who is one of the most serious trainers in the sport, gave notice they were ready for a sturdy defense by turning in smashing victories in the North American championships at St. Paul last week.

Meet officials expected 225 entries by tomorrow. Minneapolis, winner of the 1941 team trophy, listed more than 50 contestants, only a few more than Chicago.

Little likelihood of new records over the Pettibone Park lagoon course was seen unless a sudden cold spell should improve ice conditions.

The most serious threat to Miss Landry's supremacy in the senior women's event was expected to come from Eleanor Theil Dyer, 1938 North American queen.

Last Chance to Enter Hearst Rifle Shoot

By THE RIFLE EDITOR

A record entry list for the William Randolph Hearst Citizen Marksmanship Competition will be completed this week-end when all clubs who just manage to file under the midnight deadline tonight will be tabulated with the organizations already in the famed shoot.

The teams taking part in the Hearst shoot this year just about double those of last year and this is to be expected, for civilian interest in shooting this year is greater than ever before.

William Randolph Hearst saw the need for stimulating the public along these lines years ago and his pioneering in this work has paid dividends. His early efforts are now being followed all over the country.

HEARST STARTED IT

There are more than 4000 gun clubs throughout the country now affiliated with the National Rifle Ass'n and the N. R. A. is working day and night to band these clubs together at this time for the purpose of teaching civilians the proper use of firearms.

This action on the part of the National Rifle Ass'n following the start made by William Randolph Hearst is to be expected for this famed national organization is solidly behind the famous publisher.

Mr. Hearst has done more than any one individual in this country to foster and build interest in marksmanship. He has given thousands of valuable prizes to military and civilian units for proficiency in marksmanship and his trophies are sought after by clubs of all ages from coast to coast.

JUNIOR DIVISION

Start them young has been one of Mr. Hearst's theories and he has always encouraged rifle shooting in high schools.

Even in this civilian marksmanship competition, there will be a special division for junior gunners who will compete among themselves for their own awards.

This Citizen Shoot gets under way very soon. After entries close tonight, the board will start organizing leagues for the organizations. Then, the winners will be in the famed finals next spring.

For those few clubs who have not yet forwarded their blanks—remember tonight is the deadline.

'Owl Shift' Boxing Show Applauded

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 30 (INS)—A crowd of 1000 workers from the Wright Aeronautical plant here enthusiastically approved the first "owl shift" boxing show ever held in the United States early this morning. The novel show started at 1:15 a. m. and was completed two hours later.

"It is our plan to ask commissions in other defense centers to stage similar bouts and thus provide entertainment for workers who otherwise could not attend letic Commissioner Abe J. Greene, who also heads the National Boxing Association.

The Wright workers came to the show immediately upon conclusion of their day's labors at the five plants producing airplane engines. Many of them wore their working clothes and carried lunch pails.

A regular series of early morning boxing bills is planned for the Wright employes.

In the feature sixes, Danny Rosatti, 151, Newark, decisioned Johnny Yelavich, 149½, Rochelle Park, N. J.; Walter Stevens, 132, Newark, stopped Frank Puccio, 135, New York, 1:45 of the fourth, and Steve Ozga, 133, Passaic, ko'd Terry Amico, 135, New York in 2:33 of the third. Four 4-rounders completed the program.

Mayor Supports Bruins-Star Tilt

"This is one game I'm not going to miss," declared Mayor Maurice J. Tobin of Boston as he purchased a box from Capt. "Dit" Clapper of the Bruins for the gala hockey night for the benefit of the Army Relief Society, Friday, Feb. 6, at the Garden.

The mayor wasn't asked to buy these tickets for this worthy and attractive sports night which will feature a two period exhibition game between the Bruins and a galaxy of former National League All-Stars. He asked for them himself and they were delivered

Colleges Asked To Book Service Football Teams

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 (AP)—Three Marine majors recruited from the football coaching ranks agreed today that the nation needed athletics now more than ever and endorsed proposals that colleges schedule regular contests with service teams.

Maj. Bernie Bierman, mentor of the mighty Minnesota Juggernauts of the past few years said the quality of college football in 1942 was "bound to be lower" because of the war.

"But I believe it'll be a good football year, regardless," he quickly added. "The colleges should help out in every possible way by booking regular contests with teams from the military camps."

Maj. Pat Hanley, former coach at Boston University, declared that "any college that fails to schedule service teams will be missing the boat."

Harvard Teams Resume Action

The Harvard varsity and freshman track teams will meet the Northeastern cindermen tomorrow afternoon at Briggs Cage, Soldiers Field, in the first Harvard varsity competition of the second semester. The meet, which is informal, replaces the K. of C. meet originally scheduled for this date, now cancelled.

The once-beaten and twice-victorious Harvard freshman swimming team will take on the Gardner High mermen at 3 o'clock in the Harvard pool. Gardner, loser in two starts, is expected to be swamped by the improving Crimson youngsters, who dunked Brown in their last meet.

The third sports event of the new winter season will see the fencing teams of both Exeter and the Harvard freshmen in the first match for both teams. The teams will fence in foils only.

Hansen Gets Return Match

"Sliding Bill" Hansen, Salt Lake City, gets a chance to remove a blot on his record next Wednesday night when he faces Joe Cox, Kansas, in the main event of Promoter Paul Bowser's weekly tournament at the Arena.

Recently they clashed and Cox was the winner, but only after Hansen had fallen from the ring and seriously hurt his arm. Hansen had tried gamely to continue, but the referee saw that one arm was helpless and stepped in and awarded the match to Cox.

In the semi-final, Chief Osley Saunooke, 300-pound Cherokee Indian, faces Marvin Westenberg, former world's champion, while a special match will have El Diablo, mysterious maskedman, against Les Ryan of Fordham.

Preliminaries include Tiger Tasker, the Winnipeg lumberjack, vs. Lee Henning of Australia and Pete Baltran of Lithuania vs. Andy Meixner of New York.

INTERSCHOLASTIC SKIERS DUEL ON MELROSE SLOPE

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Plenty of skiing competition is on the local week-end menu, providing the slopes are covered with that gravy known as snow.

Tomorrow is the date set for the Sixth Annual Melrose Interscholastic Winter Carnival, a schoolboy and schoolgirl ski meet. Carnival officials are hoping for co-operation from the weatherman, but maybe snow is being rationed.

Nine Greater Boston high schools have already entered this meet and more entries are expected. Tomorrow morning, at least 250 contestants from high schools within a radius of 25 miles of Boston will begin the all-day competition for the beautiful trophy donated by the Dartmouth Alumni Club of Boston. They ought to ship some snow up from Cape Cod!

NASH TO BE JUDGE

This trophy, a 37-inch cup, will be awarded to the high school team which totals the most points in the five official trophy events: The boys' downhill for four-man teams, the jump and the cross country, and the girls' downhill and cross country races.

The Dartmouth Alumni Cup, first put in competition three years ago, has been won once by Arlington and once by Melrose. Three years ago the carnival was cancelled because of the lack of snow.

Teams expected to closely press Melrose, defending champion, are Medford, Arlington, Stoneham, Lexington, Newton, Wellesley, Watertown and Concord.

The Carnival Queen will be chosen at the huge ball held tonight in Memorial Hall. She will reign over all festivities.

Leif Nash, well-known skiing official and head of the Dover Cable Ski Binding Co., will judge the boys' ski jumping event.

SKATING RACES, TOO

In addition to the ski contests, there will be a full program of skating races and figure skating for individual cups, and a special list of snow events for grammar school students.

This Carnival, placing the emphasis upon winter sports for high school students, is greatly aiding in promoting the sport. In such competitions as these are being developed junior skiers who, in the not-too-far distant future, will raise the American flag to the top when the winter Olympic games are once more resumed. Keep them skiing!

Wounded

From Tobruk through London come these pictures of wounded British, German and Italian soldiers . . . victims of recent all-out warfare in Libya. Above, Axis casualties are placed aboard lighters for transportation to hospital ship.

Mercy

Looking down from the hospital ship, several German and Italian wounded are seen being readied to be taken aboard for treatment. British claim to have inflicted 60,000 casualties on Axis armies in Cyrenaica drive.

Succor

Headed for the same hospital ship as their enemies are these wounded defenders of the the British garrison at Tobruk . . . after they had been relieved by the drive of the British Imperials into Libya after months of siege. The British navy played an important part in the battle of Tobruk and the drive across Cyrenaica.
